56 Big Bombers, 30 Fighters Missing in Record Raids

Nazi Rail Yards, Oil Refineries Heavily Bombed

German Fighters Fail To Come Up

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
ONDON, Nov. 30 (AP)—American bombers and fighters, spreading an attack by nearly 3,000 warplanes on oil refineries and rail yards in Germany, drove to tremendous concentrations of aircraft fire today and suffered its heaviest loss of any recent operation.

Sixty United States heavy bombers and thirty fighters failed to return to their British bases from raid, an Eighth air force commander announced, but the majority of the fighters were believed to have landed in friendly territory.

German Air Force Grounded

The German air force refused to meet in strength and only four interceptors were shot down in the American phase of the day's aerial assault was divided into parts, with Fortresses striking synthetic oil plants in the west and Liberators hitting yards in the Saarbrücken region. German shot clouds of flak in the sky over the oil targets and sent up a few fighters in this area.

The American escort of fighters and Lightnings kept the German fighters from reaching the formations, however, and the German fighters were bombed by instruments, was fully described as ranging from moderate to severe.

These blows topped a thirty-six-hour aerial offensive which left the German air force on an average of about one bomber a minute.

Drop 22,000 Tons of Bombs

Approximately 22,000 tons of explosives were spread over Germany in the day's aerial assault by 11,000 bombers which flew on seven major missions and some 4,000 sorties in front of the six Allied armies advancing on the western front.

No wind-up blows made. The greatest operational month of the war.

The American armada was made up of four air centers—three of which produced about 90,000 tons of bombs—a force of RAF bombers and another of Lancaster bombers escorted by Spitfires bombed gasoline plants in the Ruhr.

Ration Policy Will Not Change for Few Weeks

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (AP)—The rationing of processed foods current ration-free will stay on that basis at least until mid-December, it was assured today when the Office of Price Administration acknowledged that the first push in a new controversy over rationing policy has been won by the Food Administration.

The rationing of processed food values will be unchanged when the new ration period begins next year, OPA indicated there may be revisions during December, it will depend on Stabilization for Fred M. Vinson, who will try to iron out differences between OPA and WPA.

Added to such an extent, regularly scheduled point cuts could not be made on time, agencies advanced these arguments.

A-The distribution of most rationed meat is spotty while rationed vegetables are moving off store shelves too rapidly. Items should go back on the list.

A-Overall food supply is satisfactory, despite scarcities of a few items. There should be as little rationing as possible so that shortages will not cause trouble when European war ends.

5,000 Fewer Japs: Four Enemy Ships with Supplies And Men for Leyte Are Destroyed

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, PHILIPPINES, Friday, Dec. 1 (AP)—An Ormoc-bound convoy of four Japanese ships, presumably loaded with reinforcements and supplies for the hardpressed garrison on Leyte island, had been destroyed, headquarters announced today.

The convoy, the second to be destroyed this week, included a 9,000-ton transport and three small freighters, all of which were sunk, and a 5,000-ton freighter and escorting destroyer which were set afire.

Headquarters estimated that 5,000 more Japanese troops were lost in the convoy, bringing the total enemy casualties in reinforcement attempts to more than 26,000.

The convoy was scattered off Cebu island Nov. 29-30.

U. S. Will Help Britain Regain War-Lost Trade

By JOHN F. CHESTER
LONDON, Nov. 30 (AP)—American aid for Britain's bid to recover her farflung, war-sacrificed export trade was disclosed by Prime Minister Churchill today together with the announcement that lend-lease aid to this island-empire will be cut in half when Germany falls.

Jubilantly announcing an Anglo-American economic arrangement on the future of lend-lease apparently designed to help Britain pull out of its financial slump, the Prime Minister made these points:

- New Program Planned
- 1.—A new program will be inaugurated next year to permit Britain to export articles made from American-imported raw materials.
  - 2.—Britain will pay cash for that material.
  - 3.—Defeat of Germany would permit Britain—along with the United States—to release some of its manpower for production of civilian goods.
  - 4.—Britain anticipates American aid in its rehousing program, not only in raw material but in finished houses.

In a statement which Commons has been anxiously awaiting, Churchill declared that Britain gave up its export trade "in the extremity of our emergency," but added that it was sacrificed "without which we cannot live in the future."

Applauded by House

Winning the plaudits of the House with his detailed statement on this point Anglo-American agreement, just two days after Britain issued a white paper to tell the world of its vast, war-necessitated financial sacrifices, the premier said:

"The end of the war with Germany will make possible large reductions in some of our requirements. We expect our needs will be met by a program at a rate not much more than half of what we have been receiving in 1944."

"The defeat of Germany," he said flatly, "will make possible reductions in the lend-lease program, and in certain fields we have been able to anticipate those changes and to work on the basis of the new program from the beginning of 1945."

Shipments To End

"Thus from that date, we shall no longer get shipments to this country, under lend-lease, of any articles for civilian manufacture for civilian use which enter into export trade of many raw and semi-fabricated materials such as iron and steel and some non-ferrous metals."

"Consequently," said Churchill, "we shall then be free to export a wide array of goods made from those materials. Naturally we have not used in export and do not propose to use any critically scarce materials except where the export is essential to the effective prosecution of the war."

This apparently left the door open for Britain to export goods made from American lend-lease materials to Allied countries engaged in the war against Germany and Japan.

But, repeatedly, he emphasized that—even after Germany's defeat—Britain's exports will be subjected to "those inevitable limitations dictated by the needs of the war against Japan."

Russian Troops Open Two Invasion Roads Leading into South Slovakia

By W. W. HERCHER
ONDON, Nov. 30 (AP)—Russian troops attacking in the mountains east of Budapest today blasted two invasion roads leading into southern Slovakia by capturing the ghettos of Eger and Szikszó, Marshal Stalin announced today.

Southern Hungary another Soviet army had hurled the units back into the hills beyond 100 miles southwest of Budapest after crossing the Danube river 93-mile front and driving forward more than twenty-six miles.

German high command was said to have drawn reinforcements from as far away as Italy in a desperate effort to halt Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin's Third Ukrainian army, which has pushed to within about 100 miles of the Austrian frontier.

Eger, sixty miles northeast of Budapest, fell to units of Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Second Ukrainian army which also is besieging the Hungarian capital on three sides, and attacking Miskolc, another big mountain bastion twenty-one miles northeast of Eger.

1,300 Japanese Slain on Peleliu, Only 92 Yanks

Nimitz Reports On Island Battle

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (AP)—Troops of the Eighty-first army division killed 1,300 Japanese and captured 142 on Peleliu island in the Palau group between Oct. 20 and Nov. 26, the navy announced tonight.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz in a communique said our losses were ninety-two killed, 622 wounded and five missing. Main points of resistance offered by the Japanese, remnants of the enemy garrison on the island, were caves.

The communique also reported a Japanese bomber attack on Saipan and Tinian in the Marianas before dawn Nov. 28. No damage was caused and one enemy plane was destroyed and another probably destroyed.

Air attacks on Japanese bases in the Palau, Wake island, Haha Jima in the Bonins, and Rota in the Marianas, also were reported.

The communique also listed American air force attacks on Pagan island, Nape in the Carolines and Japanese held bases in the Marshalls, during the Oct. 20, Nov. 26 period.

William Green Is Re-elected AFL President

By HAROLD WARD
NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 30 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor unanimously re-elected William Green as president for the twenty-first time today and he immediately pledged himself to work toward union with the CIO and the United Mine Workers.

Earlier in the sixty-fourth convention, which closed tonight, Green had offered to quit if it would bring solidarity of American labor.

The scholars AFL president, whose score of years in office has encompassed some of the bitterest strife in the nation's labor history, said as he accepted another term:

"Some who left us will be back when we next convene. I will do my best to bring it about."

All thirteen vice-presidents and Secretary-Treasurer George Meany, likewise were re-elected without opposition. The 1945 annual convention goes to Chicago.

The vice presidents, in order, are: William L. Hutchison of the Carpenters; Matthew Wolf of the Photo Engravers; Joseph N. Weber, Musicians; G. M. Bugnizant, Electrical Workers; George M. Harrison, Railway Clerks; Daniel J. Tobin, of the Teamsters; Harry C. Bates, of the Bricklayers; W. D. Mahon, Street Railway Employers; Felix H. Knight, Railway Carmen; Edward Flore, Hotel and Restaurant Workers; Harvey W. Brown, Machinists; W. C. Birthright, Barbers and W. C. Doherty, Letter Carriers.

Plea to Rival Unions

The convention began two weeks ago with a strong appeal from the powerful executive council of the CIO and to John L. Lewis's United Mine Workers to return to the AFL.

Lewis, founder of the CIO, led it away from the federation in 1937. Later he walked out of the CIO, too, leaving Philip Murray in command of that group.

She Upsets Committee

Mrs. Luce first upset the masculine equality in connection with a "gentleman's agreement"—in the words of acting Chairman Matt Merritt (D-NY)—to let a spokesman issue all the statements during the committee's inspection tour.

The comely Connecticut lawmaker was reported to have declared the army had ordered her not to talk. This, the army denied. Then Mrs. Luce had a few words to say about the current cigarette shortage. She was against it.

But the annoyance within the committee turned to something near to open anger yesterday.

She abandoned the committee temporarily for a short flight in a Portress while her colleagues plodded through the mud on an inspection tour of three air bases.

This cut the other committee members to the congressional floor. Merritt said he hadn't been consulted about Mrs. Luce's independence.

Hours later, a correspondent's request to accompany the committee (Continued on Page 13, Col. 1)

Sedition Judge Dies in Sleep

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (AP)—The judge who has presided over the nation's largest sedition trial since it started last April 17 died today, leaving the future of the case in doubt.

Chief Justice Edward E. Elcher of the United States District Court, a former Democratic Congressman from Iowa and a former member of the Securities commission, died in his sleep at his home in nearby Alexandria, Va. He was 65.

Expect Help from Allies

Diplomats interpreted this to mean the Poles again were making it clear they expected the help of Britain and the United States in forcing a rapprochement with Russia, and were holding the Atlantic Charter out as a reminder.

Archbishop succeeds Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, who resigned as prime minister when he could not persuade his cabinet to accept Russian proposals for settling the dispute between the two governments.

The new cabinet does not include a single representative of Mikolajczyk's Peasant party—the strongest in Poland—but the Peasant party in a statement tonight declared it would "support sincerely" the legal Polish government, and make every effort toward building a strong, free, democratic Poland.

THEY ARE ON THEIR WAY OUT OF THE FATHERLAND

THE FIRST BATCH of Germans taken in the battle for Geilenkirchen, Germany, file past an advancing British tank as they start their trek which will end in an Allied prison enclosure. Geilenkirchen fell to the British Second and the American Ninth armies.

Winter Arrives: Cold Wave from Canada Covers Most of Nation; Heavy Snowfall

[By The Associated Press]
A cold mass of air pushed south from Canada to cover most of the United States as far south as Arkansas and Tennessee last (Thursday) night and loomed over the Appalachians to make the east coast miserable with a gale.

The Chicago weather bureau spotted warmer air from the west, and said it should reach the Midwest by tonight and start a slow rise that would continue into Sunday.

New Englanders were harassed by a wind of gale proportions. Heavy rains turned to snow as the cold air moved in. Gale-driven waves practically submerged Boston's Atlantic avenue "T" wharf, and at Biddeford Pool, Me., surged over eight-foot concrete bulkheads.

Traffic in upstate New York was snarled by snow and sleet, fifteen inches falling at Syracuse. Snow of varying depth fell in states north of a line extending from Pennsylvania through the Ohio valley and Southern Nebraska to the Rocky mountains.

A 142-inch snowfall blocked roads near Gaylord, Mich., in the northern part of the lower peninsula, and temperatures of 5-10 degrees above zero were forecast for Friday.

Clare's Bomber Sortie Angers Congressmen

By ALEX G. SINGLETON
LONDON, Nov. 30 (AP)—The publicity-shy House Military committee shoved off for France today with its male members wondering how they could combat Clare Boothe Luce's penchant for hitting the headlines.

To the battlefields of the continent they carried a feud of their own. The smoldering resentment of several representatives about two episodes of their stay in Britain, both involving Mrs. Luce, threatened momentarily to disturb the serenity of their mission.

She Upsets Committee

Mrs. Luce first upset the masculine equality in connection with a "gentleman's agreement"—in the words of acting Chairman Matt Merritt (D-NY)—to let a spokesman issue all the statements during the committee's inspection tour.

The comely Connecticut lawmaker was reported to have declared the army had ordered her not to talk. This, the army denied. Then Mrs. Luce had a few words to say about the current cigarette shortage. She was against it.

Third Raid on Tokyo Accomplished Without Losses from Enemy Action

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (AP)—The third raid on Tokyo by American B-29's was carried out through night and clouds without losses due to enemy action, the army announced today.

It brought from the Tokyo radio renewed hysterical threats that any American flyer who parachuted "blindly" bombing the capital would be "killed on the spot by the angry Japanese people."

Secretary of War Stimson said the third attack within a week "is an outstanding demonstration of our ability to carry the war to the heart of Japan." Henceforth, he said, there will follow a "regularly repeated and constantly expanding pattern of destruction for Japan's war production."

Reach Roer Bank On Long Stretch In Julich Area

Nazi Dead Piled High in Streets

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
PARIS, Nov. 30 (AP)—American Ninth army troops swept through three more German towns today in their new smash at the left end of the blazing Aachen front and tonight had reached the flooded Roer river along a twenty-mile stretch above and below Julich.

The Roer is the last important natural barrier standing between Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's attacking forces and the Rhine, some twenty-five miles to the east.

Three Villages Captured

Captured in the surge of Lt. Gen. William Simpson's Ninth army forces east and northeast of Geilenkirchen were the blackened villages of Lindern, Flossdorf and Roerdorf, all on or near the west bank of the Roer. In another village, Beek, a mile southwest of Lindern, American troops found more Nazi dead piled in the streets than in any German town yet entered.

As the Germans recoiled back under the rain of American shells and before the bayonets of Simpson's doughboys they came under withering attack by Thunderbolt fighter bombers.

Lindern is fourteen and a half miles from the Prussian Arsenal and rail city of Munchen Gladbach and stands on high ground overlooking the enemy stronghold of Linlich to the southeast. Flossdorf and Roerdorf are Roer river towns between Linlich and Julich.

Clear Hurlen Forest

While the shattering attack by three divisions of the Ninth army beat back the dug-in Germans and threatened to develop into a fierce drive on Dusseldorf, twenty-eight miles away, Lt. Gen. Courtney Hodges's United States First Army doughboys on the right won the fortified towns of Lammersdorf and Groushau in savage fighting and virtually put the bloody Hurlen forest behind them.

In almost every sector from Holland to Switzerland the Germans were counterattacking frequently and hard. This stiffening resistance slowed the previously spectacular advance of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third army on the Saar front, limiting its gains to an average of about a mile.

Carriers Damaged

Sprague's report identified for the first time the other four carriers in his force of six which had an escort of three destroyers and four destroyer escorts when it tangled with a Japanese force of four battleships, seven cruisers and nine destroyers. The other carriers were the Kalamazoo, the Panhandle, the Kalamazoo, the White Plains and the Kalamazoo. All were damaged.

Airmen in Action

American airmen made "dummy runs" against the enemy after their torpedoes and ammunition were exhausted.

The carriers fought back with their five-inch guns against the heavily armed enemy ships and morale was so high that at one point a battery officer said: "Just hold on a little longer, boys, we're getting 'em into forty - millimeter range."

Sen. Kilgore III

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (AP)—Senator Kilgore (D-W.Va.) remained at his home today with a cold, his office reported.

House Renews FDR's War Powers, But Puts a String on Approval

By HOWARD FLIEGER
WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (AP)—The House voted overwhelmingly today to renew the administration's broad war powers—but it put a string on its approval.

It sent to the Senate a bill to extend through 1945 the life of the second War Powers act—legislative basis for the War Production Board, rationing, War Food Administration and many other wartime agencies.

But this time the House approved an amendment empowering federal courts to review and enjoin WPA orders suspending individual allocations of critical materials.

The original bill provided for no court review of any ruling by the war agencies. Persons dissatisfied with War Production Board action had but one recourse—an appeal to the Office of War Mobilization.

Sponsors of the amendment said it actually applied to a limited part of the war program—giving courts the right to pass only on those war production orders which withdraw a previously granted allocation of vital materials but Cochran contended it is broad enough to let any person who loses a rationing privilege—a "B" card gasoline ration for example—to tie up the war agency's program.

Hunting of Deer Is Legal Monday

Six-day Season To Open; Ban on Upland Game Will Be in Effect

Maryland's six-day deer hunting season will open Monday December 4 and will continue through Saturday, December 9, during which period it will be unlawful to hunt any upland game in Garrett or Allegany counties.

The dates for the deer season in Maryland apply to all places except the Woodmont Rod and Gun Club in Washington county where the open season will be observed December 15 to 24, inclusive.

Regulations in Maryland provide that only male deer, with two or more points to one antler, may be bagged during the open season. The bag limit is one person for the season.

The hunting of deer in Frederick county is legal during the open season as provided by law, when the ground is covered by snow. This regulation was adopted by the Game and Inland Fish Commission November 21 at Hancock, according to E. Lee LeCompte, state game warden.

Five Births Are Reported Here

Aviation Cadet and Mrs. Luther Huff, 217 Union street, announce the birth of a daughter in Allegany hospital yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Huff, the former Miss Anna Marie Shaffer, is a graduate of the Allegany Hospital School of Nursing.

TEXTILE WORKERS FAVOR ADOPTION OF 30-HOUR WEEK

Ten resolutions will be presented by Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, to the annual convention of the Maryland and District of Columbia Industrial Union Council, to be held in Washington December 6, 7 and 8, John E. Neal, recording secretary of the union, announced yesterday.

The resolutions, sanctioned by the members of the local Wednesday, call for a thirty hour week, a system of rent control for Cumberland and Allegany counties, flood control of Wills creek and the reconstruction of the business section of this city.

The Textile workers will also ask for the completion of the Savage River dam, rehabilitation of veterans of World War II, a workable system of price control, and a state sponsored program for the control of juvenile delinquency.

Increased compensation for nurses, teachers and civic workers will be requested by the CIO local, Neal said.

The local will ask that the state Unemployment law be revised. The final resolution will ask that servicemen be granted free theater admissions and bus rides.

Cadet Huff is stationed at Maxwell field, Ala.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Clites, 536 Fort avenue, in Allegany hospital yesterday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Merrbaugh, 921 Frederick street, announce the birth of a son in Memorial hospital yesterday morning.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. George Denton Hoblitzell, 221 Carroll street, in Memorial hospital yesterday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Haven Blaich, Ridgeley, W. Va., announce the birth of a daughter in Allegany hospital last evening.

Salvation Army Serves Coffee Three times during the fire Capt. Robert Ball and Envoys Southwood, of the Salvation Army, served coffee and cakes to firemen and policemen working on the scene. Eight gallons of coffee were served.

Howard W. Glisan, owner of the garage, said he has not given any consideration as to future plans. He added that he and his brother, Albert, took over the North Centre street building in 1910, after having been partners in the Potomac Hardware Company for ten years.

Their hardware store was located next to Wolf's present furniture store on Baltimore street. Prior to 1900 the Glisan brothers operated a cigar store and fruit stand on the Queen City pavement for four years. Howard Glisan has been owner of the garage business since his brother died in 1930.

Building Assessed for $14,725 The Glisan property, exclusive of land, is assessed for $14,725. The assessment on the land is $9,105 while the assessed valuation of tools, furniture, fixtures and equipment is $2,750.

The building is reported covered by $25,000 worth of insurance. The garage carried no insurance on the cars in storage or being repaired, but some of the machines were protected by their owners.

OPA Sets Ceiling Prices For Dressed Hogs

Tokyo Raider Is Nephew Of Local Resident

The leader of the second B-29 Superfortress raid on Tokyo, Col. Walter C. Sweeney, Jr., Wheeling, W. Va., is a nephew of Mrs. Charles O. Roemer, 125 North Centre street, and has visited here several times.

A graduate of West Point, Col. Sweeney took part in American air action at Midway Island and other points in the Pacific. He is the son of Mrs. Roemer's brother, Maj. Gen. Walter Sweeney, now in San Francisco, Calif. A recent letter from her brother informed Mrs. Roemer that Col. Sweeney visited his parents in San Francisco two weeks ago.

Cold but Clear Day Seen for Service Game

BALTIMORE, Nov. 30. (P)—The minimum temperature here Saturday—the day of the Army-Navy game—is expected to be below 20 degrees, but with no snow or high winds foreseen so far, Joseph L. Biley, assistant meteorologist at the United States Weather Bureau in Baltimore, said today.

A maximum temperature of 32 degrees was forecast, and the field at the Municipal stadium was covered with tarpaulins as a protection against any more rain.

Tulsa Gives Miamians Orange Bowl Preview

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 30. (P)—Tulsa's football team will give Miamians an Orange bowl preview tomorrow night, tackling the University of Miami in the same stadium where the Oklahoma eleven will battle Georgia Tech New Year's day.

Favored to win as they play, the Tulsons had fans here wondering whether they will try put on a high-scoring show to whet the spectators' interest in the big game, or whether they will keep their attack under wraps because Tech scouts will be in the stands.

The Miami team which has won one, tied one and lost five games will be without the services of Fred Mullis, who threw three touchdown passes last week while the Hurricanes were making their showing in losing to Auburn.

It Might Be 1,782,003

RALEIGH, N. C.—(AP)—The apple crop in North Carolina this year will be three times as large as it was in 1943, and more than 600,000 bushels larger than the average harvest in the years from 1933 through 1942, the department of agriculture says. Statisticians go out on an apple limb to predict 1,782,002 bushels against 499,384 last year, and 1,142,891 for the ten year average.

Heroism without Arms

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE (AP)—Front line medics carry no arms but take just as many chances as any doughboy. One medic had to crawl through an open area to reach four wounded men. While he was working on the second patient a bullet wounded the first man again . . . this time in the head. The medic saved the lives of all four.

Motor Vehicle
Tax Reform

TIMELY RECOMMENDATIONS for motor vehicle tax reform in Maryland are made in a report just released by a special committee of the Maryland advisory board of the Keystone Automobile Club. The committee was headed by former Senator Emanuel George, and its conclusions are enumerated as follows:

1. That the motor vehicle tax structure in Maryland should be simplified.
  2. That an effort should be made to combine the registration fee, the title tax and the motor vehicle personal property tax into one fee, with appropriate distribution to the cities, counties and the state. As an alternative, it is suggested that a flat registration fee be established in lieu of the present horsepower tax, with a flat personal property tax based on a three-year average for all cars assessed in Baltimore city and the twenty-three counties.
  3. That if it is deemed inadvisable to make any immediate change in the present base for registration and personal property tax on motor vehicles, the legislature should authorize the commissioner of motor vehicles to collect both fees and then make proper distribution to the counties, thus eliminating the inconvenience and nuisance of "perforating" tax applications.
  4. That the legislature be requested to direct the Legislative Council to make a thorough study of the motor vehicle tax structure, with a view to simplification and amendment.
- These recommendations are headed in the right direction. As for the alternative suggested in the second for a flat registration fee and personal property tax, it would seem a highly desirable reform. The flat fee plan, it will be recalled, was advocated by the late Governor Harry W. Nice, but the political forces opposing him ganged up against the idea. Governor Nice could see in the plan an easing of the burden for the small car owners.
- There is room for simplification of the present motor vehicle taxing system, and it would be well to bring it about before the new automobile era comes on us.

Tokyo Still Vulnerable

AMERICANS are thrilled to hear of Superfortresses' attack on Tokyo which are reported to have caused great damage to industrial targets. Catching Tokyo off guard, this emphasis the stepped up pace of assault by Superfortresses on the empire homeland at a time when the progress of the Pacific offensive makes possible ever nearer bases to compensate for those lost in China.

That Tokyo is no tinder-box for incendiary bombs but a city probably as well prepared to withstand bombing as any in the world is submitted by a report to the Office of War Information. The report stresses that metropolitan Tokyo has been prepared for years for earthquakes and consequent fires, the traditional nightmare of Japan. OWI cites the example of the Imperial Hotel built by Frank Lloyd Wright to withstand earthquake shock as typical of the reconstruction program which followed the 1923 disaster wherein at least half Tokyo was destroyed. This pattern of the new Tokyo, OWI believes, is likely to offer similar resistance to bomb shock. It also sees in the new layout of the city, with wide highways serving as firebreaks and short-cuts for fire fighting apparatus, a modern protection against bombing raids.

These factors are all in point, but they are far from conclusive in offsetting Tokyo's vulnerability. For instance, the new parliament building, part of the city's reconstruction program, was destroyed by fire in 1923. Japan has not had to face any earthquake test comparable to that of 1923 and its immediate problem is not one of withstanding tremors of the earth but ponderous lethal missiles from the skies and it appears that it is to receive a plenty of them.

Curious Events
In Old Gotham

STRANGE EVENTS have occurred in the New York city area in the last few days.

A soldier's wife who went to collect some overdue rent on a three-story house in Brooklyn found not only that the tenant had gone but that the house had disappeared. She walked a block to a police station and learned that the city had condemned the house and torn it down. She owed the city nearly $300 for the job of razing it, she was told.

She was angry because she had not been informed of the condemnation proceedings and also because it was one of Uncle Sam's bureaucratic nephews, the Home Owners Loan Corporation, which had stuck her with the place. The HOLC sold her the property last August for $2,800, of which $1,800 was cash.

A Yonkers man, with his face half shaven and three raw places on the battered side, entered a police station and protested that the ministrations of a tonorial parlor operator were too rough. The barber was arrested on a charge of attempted felonious assault. The New York Zoo filled an order from a Chilean city for a red-tailed hawk and two sparrow hawks, among other things, but apologized for not being able to offer any common snakes, not because of the scarcity of snakes but the shortage of professional collectors.

A New York detective saw a broken window in a store on Broadway, looked among the dummies and noticed that one moved. Then there were three, and the other was charged with burglary. Mayor "Boss" LaGuardia asked his radio audience to contribute the $107 it took to pay for a telephone line from Chicago to the Gotham studio for a broadcast by the "Little Flower." One man already has offered to give $1.

All of which indicates that the big town still possesses its yen for the unique and the bizarre.

December and
The Poets

PERHAPS the month of December doesn't need much praise. Poets sing gaily of other months, but as a rule they apply their most derogatory adjectives to December. They term it dim, dreary, bleak, wild. They speak of its killing chills.

Whittier probably dealt it a heavier blow than any other poet when, in "Snow-Bound," he said: "The sun that brief December day, rose cheerless over hills of gray, and darkly circled, gave at noon a sadder light than waning moon."

But always eager to create gloomy atmosphere, selected December as the month for the appearance of his raven.

Of all months, December can get along most easily without the adulation of the poets. December happens to coincide with the Christmas season, a season that has an eternal appeal to the hearts of young and old. No one can fail to be affected by the spirit of Christmas. Even the vigorous and rude attempts in certain quarters to discredit the feast and its significance prove how strongly entrenched it is today in the human heart.

And Shakespeare gave some of his best lines to the Christmas season. There is the following from Hamlet:

"Some say that ever against that season comes wherein our Saviour's birth is celebrated, the bird of dawning singeth all night long. And then, they say, no spirit can walk abroad; the nights are wholesome; no fairies strike, nor witch hath power to charm, so hallow'd and so gracious is the time."

Timely Suggestions
About Burning Coal

W. FRANK ROBERTS, of Baltimore, state solid fuels administrator, has instituted a campaign for further conservation in the use of coal in view of the national fuel shortage, and suggestions just made by him are herewith passed along to readers who burn coal.

Those who heat their homes with coal, Roberts says, should consult their local coal dealers for suggestions as to the most efficient practices in burning their fuels. Fuel engineers report that the careless firing of a domestic coal furnace often wastes as much as twenty per cent of the fuel. One sure indication of inefficient combustion, they say, is the presence of black smoke, which shows that the gases are not being burned. These gases may contain as much as thirty or forty per cent of the heating value of the fuel.

"People are too inclined to assume that nothing can be done to reduce their coal bills," Roberts states, "whereas combustion engineers know that householders can profit by professional advice in heating problems just as surely as they can profit by the advice of lawyers or doctors when confronted by legal or medical problems."

"There are great differences between ways in which various coals should be burned. The nature of the burning equipment must also be taken into consideration. Coal dealers, in advising their customers, not only speak from many years' experience, but they also have the benefit of advice from the producers of the fuels they handle."

The suggestions are well worth heeding in view of the necessity on which they are based.

Poets seem inclined to bow to the inevitable. One has just published a book of verse in which he admits children should be noisy. Previously one had agreed to let the ocean roll on.

The United States will have 50,000 tons of merchant ships after the war, says a report. There may be a lot of oceanic tramps.

Inevitable smokers are beginning to learn that the New Deal has now reached the half-cigarette stage.

Since the war is costing $250,000,000 each day, even the purchase of a $25 War bond will help a little.

Your Prejudices

By MARSHALL MASLIN

We can no more avoid prejudices than we can avoid having weeds in our garden. Unless you live in a sound-proof house and never leave it you will find prejudices in your mind—and even if you do live in such a house you'll probably discover in yourself a prejudice against footloose folk.

Prejudices blow in from everywhere, like the dandelion puffs from the vacant lot next door and before you know they are they, they are germinating busily in the mind.

Theoretically you have no prejudices. Your mind is clean as a well-scrubbed pot. You think straight and clearly with no knobs in your mental engine. But is that entirely true? A year ago, let us say, you had a grievance and went to law over it. You hired a lawyer and he took your case to court. You were convinced that your cause was just. The jury looked intelligent and friendly and you had high hopes of success. But on the third day of the trial the judge threw your case out of court and discharged the jury.

You say you have no prejudices but that study is still on the bench and every few years he seeks reelection. Does he get your vote? Do you think him a fair and intelligent judge? Or a prejudiced old fogey who should have long ago been retired to private life?

I'll try not to answer those questions. I know how I would answer them if they applied to me. I can only guess how you answer them now and I have a private opinion. So I think you do NOT tell your friends to vote for Judge X and you don't praise him as a learned and impartial judge. But you are prejudiced against him although you say it is a fair analysis of his ability based on what you've heard about him.

That's the trouble with a prejudice. It's so difficult to pin down and analyze and put in the right pigeon-hole. But that's one of our big jobs—to know our prejudices when we encounter them—and to know a mushroom of the mind from a poisonous toadstool.

Fixed Tenure System Is Viewed as Big Difficulty in Altering Vote on Treaties

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30. Proposals of an amendment to the constitution whereby treaties would be ratified by a majority vote on both houses of Congress instead of by a two-thirds vote in the Senate are pointing out that no other country insists on a two-thirds vote.

Other countries, however, do not have a rigid system of tenure for the executive or for the legislative body. If those who are sponsoring the proposed congressional amendment would add to it a provision enabling the people instantly to remove or threaten to remove from office the legislators or the executive or both, just as is the case in Canada, much of the difficulty surrounding the problem of ratifying treaties probably would be eliminated.

Thus, the House of Commons ratifies a treaty by a majority vote, but if the House is not accurate in its interpretation of public opinion, it can be removed overnight by the people. This means that when ratification is given, it actually does represent the public opinion of the country and not merely the desire of the executive or the Parliament.

Senate Refusal Sure

While our House of Representatives might pass the proposed constitutional amendment for a majority vote in ratifying treaties, the Senate is certain to block it. The Senate, on the other hand, has never had before it a proposal to institute a system of parliamentary government along with the change in the method of ratifying treaties. There could hardly be any objection to a majority vote in ratifying treaties if the members of both houses were made responsible to public opinion under the parliamentary method.

The present two-thirds rule operates so that a minority can block ratification of a treaty, and this has long been recognized by both Republicans and Democrats as a defect in our constitutional system. With the numerous changes that have happened in world affairs and the possibility that war might be declared overnight, a legislative body that is not instantly responsive to public opinion or an executive who can act without consulting the legislative body presents dangers to the public welfare that were not foreseen by the framers of the constitution.

Resolution for Limited Force

Thus, there is much discussion already of a proposal whereby the treaty that is to come out of the Dumbarton Oaks conference is to be ratified by a two-thirds vote.

This is why it may be freely predicted that Congress will not consent to a joint resolution but will insist on a concurrent resolution, which does not require the consent of the president for repeal or amendment. Another form of resolution is one that sets a definite limitation of time for expiration and hence requires re-enactment periodically. This is a favorite method used by legislators to insure a majority vote instead of a two-thirds vote when repeal is desired.

Merchandising Is Rated Good Field
For Postwar Jobs

By ROGER W. BARSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., Nov. 30.—Men who had good jobs before they entered the service should take these jobs back, even if they do not want to stay in them forever. Men who did not have jobs before should go to school and become an expert in something. The best investment anyone can make is in a practical education whether it is a business, or a mechanical or a professional education. I especially recommend training which will kinds of replacements which can be bought at some retail store.

(9) There have been about 12,500,000 children born in the United States since Pearl Harbor. Of this number, over 2,000,000 are in excess of the normal birth rate. The poorest retail purchasers are the aged, who are dying off; but the best are the children and their parents.

(10) Consumer goods are not only wearing out, but styles are changing. New things which will come on the market after the war will be of designs which will make the old things look obsolete. This applies not only to houses, furniture, wearing apparel, but even to foods and beverages.

(11) Billions of dollars will be required merely to bring factories, offices, homes and individuals up-to-date. The farms of the country will especially need attention. The land has been overworked; fertilization has been neglected; farm implements are out-of-date. Moreover, the farmers will have more money and less debts after the war than they have ever had before. All of these farm purchases must come through retailers.

(12) Even the retail stores themselves will be large purchasers. Most of them must be refurbished, relighted and repainted. Air conditioning must be installed in many; refrigeration and other new equipment will be needed. A large store is not necessary. It may have only a ten-foot frontage, but it should have modern furnishings with an excellent show window.

Distribution Also

Returning service men should also consider warehousing, transportation, financing, advertising, printing and various other departments of distribution. The cooperatives, or group buying, or voluntary chains or manufacturers' branches present opportunities. I suppose there always will be an opportunity for the old style wholesalers, but that division does not appeal to me.

The greatest opportunity lies with the chain stores, especially the variety chains. Next in importance come the supermarkets; and third, the department stores. House-to-house selling will always be profitable for those with "guts." Consumer credit will come back; cooperatives will continue to increase in importance; but the chain stores have nothing to fear from co-operatives for many years to come. There will be changes in servicing as well as in products and packaging. This especially applies to the perishable goods such as meats, fish, fruits and vegetables due to the increased installations of deep-freezers.

Diplomatic Ability Of Stettinius Is Held Promising

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Congress was inwardly a little disappointed in Mr. Roosevelt's choice of Edward Stettinius as state secretary.

Foremost Senate Democrats had a campaign going for their old friend James Byrnes, the economic generalissimo. Twenty-four hours before the appointment was announced they were working ardently.

But Mr. Roosevelt called Foreign Relations Chairman Tom Connally and Senator George down to the White House before the announcement and explained the situation to them.

Byrnes was far too valuable a man to be lost from economic direction as he alone knew all the intricacies of that fatthomless task, and knew nothing of the complex development of war-peacel policies in foreign affairs, while Stettinius had been handling them for a year. That satisfied practically everyone who required satisfaction.

Placed for Elevation

The truth of the matter is Stettinius was put into the department more than a year ago with the idea of his elevation to the top post in view, as readers of this column at that time will recall.

Mr. Hull's health has not been as good as advertised for some years past. While his throat ailment did not develop malignancy, the latest diagnosis is supposed to show diabetes, and he could not go on.

As a matter of fact this column was able to say first under date of November 7 that his relinquishment of office for health was one of the great changes to be expected out of the election. (The White House denied it a few days later, as the president then was hopeful of at least persuading Hull to keep his name on the office door.)

More disappointed than the Democratic senators were Vice President Wallace's friends. He wanted the job. It would have provided a nice boost for him.

Wallace Not Qualified

But since he has failed with the vice presidency, and after all the things he said said about world affairs in the past three years (half-way to communism is a goal for us, quart of milk a day for everyone, etc.) it has been quite evident to all except the extreme leftist New Deal that he was not qualified to handle the severe difficulties of postwar negotiations on their currently realistic plane. I can find no evidence Mr. Roosevelt ever considered him for the post.

The supplanting of such a strong, towering figure as Mr. Hull by a man nearly thirty years his junior is bound to bring some changes, although they will come gradually.

Hull, singlehanded, and working against the politicians, achieved whatever degree of unity has been accomplished on the peace. He stood for morality in the world order and without compromise.

His department was honeycombed with intrigue against him. The leftwingers were always trying to slide him through a trapdoor. But he always put his foot down, blue-streaked—cuss words at the proper time, and won over them. He is handing his department over to Stettinius fairly clean.

Mr. Stettinius has the same ideals as Hull. Wallace was right in describing him as having "purity of purpose."

More than that he has diplomatic manner. While his appearance is aristocratic, he gets along with everyone. His office for worshipers. Once he came before congressional committee from vacation, tanned, cleanly dressed, with bow tie, his prematurely white hair thoroughly brushed down. One congressman leaned over to a colleague and whispered:

"Now you see what God can do when he really tries."

A Realist

In the Senate they are saying Mr. Roosevelt chose a man dependent upon him entirely for a diplomatic career, in order that the executive himself might be his own state secretary. I do not think it will work out that way.

Though congenial and mild-mannered, Mr. Stettinius is a realist. Though diplomacy may prevent him from talking facts around, he knows what they are, and never has lost sight of them.

He is distinctly not the Senatorial type, but when the time comes to get the peace treaty through Congress, he will get along all right with the legislators, because of his diplomatic ability. His difficulty is that he has stepped into the second biggest pair of shoes in Washington, and he may not know how to kick.

T. E. Cassady Weds Miss Elwanda Head

By MYRTLE PARK
PETERSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 30—Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Head, Mt. Storm, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Elwanda Grove Head, to Pvt. Thiburn E. Cassady, son of Mrs. Kathleen Cassady, Petersburg, and the late David Cassady.

The wedding took place November

26 in the Brethren church, Cumberland, Md., with the Rev. L. S. Evans officiating. Miss June Hanlin, Keyser, was the maid of honor and only attendant. E. C. Garber, Petersburg, served as best man and Harold Garber was ringbearer, of the double ring ceremony.

Miss Ellen Brady, Petersburg, played "Love's Greeting" and "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life."

Mrs. Cassady wore a fuchsia colored dress with black accessories. The maid of honor wore a brown dress with brown accessories.

Mrs. Cassady is a graduate of Petersburg high school and is attending Potomac State college, Keyser.

Mr. Cassady is a graduate of Petersburg high school and received his A. B. degree from West Virginia university in 1941. He taught music in Petersburg high school before entering the armed services in April 1944. He has been located at Camp Berkeley, Texas.

Mrs. Cassady will continue her work at Potomac State, and Mr. Cassady will return to Camp Berkeley after his furlough.

read the Scripture and a poem "The Autographs of God."

At the business session, conducted by Willie Frank Robinson, president, plans were completed for the Parsons sub-district of the Methodist Youth Fellowship rally and party to be held in the church Monday evening, December 4, at 7:30.

The guest speaker, will be Carl Lee, Chinese student now at West Virginia Wesleyan college, Buchanan. He is a graduate of the Nanjing Methodist Seminary at Nanjing, China, and has studied at the University of Iowa and the University of Chicago, Ill. He will return to his native country upon the completion of his education here as a missionary doctor.

Plans were also completed for the play, "Snowbound on Christmas Eve," written by Mae M. Brewster, to be presented in the church Friday evening, December 22, at 7:30 p. m. which Mrs. Hiller will direct.

Leaders for the month of December were chosen. They are: December 3—Betty Bright; December 10—Nellie Painter; December 17—Dorothea Shafer; December 24—Mrs. Hiller and on December 31 the member of the Youth Fellowship will have a Watch Night Service under the direction of Miss Grace Bright and Mrs. Hiller.

Meeting Is Planned
Louis Bombarger, county chairman of the American Red Cross, has announced that a county-wide meeting will be held in the city hall in Thomas Sunday afternoon, December 10, at 2 o'clock to elect officers and make plans for the coming year. All chapters are requested to send representatives.

Club Plans Meeting
The Woman's Club of Parsons will have its annual Christmas meeting and covered dish dinner in the club rooms of the community building in Parsons Friday evening, December 8 with Mrs. Margaret Pritt, Mrs. George Donalds, Mrs. Ronald Sheets and Mrs. R. K. McClain as hostesses.

Mrs. Offner Dies
Word has been received in Parsons of the death of Mrs. Effie B. Offner, at her home in Fairmont. Mrs. Offner is the daughter of the late Henderson and Deborah Yoke Taylor, former Parsons residents.

She is survived by one son, Edward T. Offner of Fairmont, one brother, Eugene Taylor of Fairmont; one sister, Mrs. Somerville Brown of Albright and one sister-in-law, Mrs. Minnie Taylor of Montrose.

Will Buy Siren
Earl Corcoran, chief of the Parsons Volunteer Fire Department, announced that a new seven and one half horsepower electric siren is being purchased by the fire department to be installed on top of the fire house in the near future.

The fire department will sponsor the annual Christmas dance to be held in the Parsons gymnasium on Christmas night with "Fats" Ryan and his orchestra furnishing the music. Proceeds will go to the purchase of the siren which will cost $500.

The fire department is also sponsoring the annual sale of Christmas trees for the twelfth consecutive year.

Newman-Snyder Wedding On Nov. 16 Is Revealed

Ceremony Is Solemnized in Philadelphia Presbyterian Church

Miss Ruth Snyder, daughter of Henry Snyder, Philadelphia, became the bride of H. Stanley Newman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Newman, 129 West Second street, this city, November 16.

The ceremony was solemnized at 8 o'clock in the evening in the Covenant Presbyterian church in Philadelphia, with the pastor officiating. Mrs. Doris Duckett, New York City was matron of honor; Miss Jessie Smith, Philadelphia, bridesmaid and Barbara Hysore, Philadelphia, junior bridesmaid.

Harold Brough, Berwick, Pa., served as Mr. Newman's best man and Howard Snyder and Allan Snyder, Glenside, Pa., cousins of the bride, were the ushers.

The bride was attired in a gown of ice-blue tulle, fashioned with a high neckline, long fitted sleeves and the full skirt sweeping into a long train. Her three quarter-length ice-blue lace veil was held by a Juliet cap of the same lace. Her bridal bouquet was of white roses and orchids.

All three of the bride's attendants wore gowns of rose silk made complementary to the brides, and each carried large bouquets of assorted flowers and wore matching arrangements in the hair.

Mrs. Newman chose a wine velvet gown for her son's wedding, which she wore a matching hat and white accessories. A corsage of roses and gardenias completed her costume.

The bride is a graduate of Temple university, Philadelphia and was employed as secretary to the dean of the university for the past two years.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Lewisburg, Pa., high school and of Temple university in June 1944. He has accepted a position as a drugist with the Rea and Derick Company, at State College, Pa., where he will assume his duties today.

Following the ceremony Mr. Newman and his bride left for a wedding trip to Boston. They will be at home to their friends at State College after today.

Will Attend Wedding

Mrs. Arthur Hammond Amick, Jr., Mrs. Henry Robb, Hill Crest drive, and Miles Street Amick, student at Washington and Jefferson college, Washington, Pa., will leave today for Columbus, O., to attend the wedding of Miss Marjorie Dee Hollingshead, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell R. Hollingshead, to Pfc. Ar-

Naves Cross Road Club Elects Officers

The Naves Cross Road 4-H Club held its achievement day program and elected officers for the coming year at the meeting Wednesday evening at the home of Patricia and Doris Brinkman, Christie road.

Doris Brinkman was elected president; Agnes Wotring, vice president; Dorothy Streets, secretary and Winifred Wotring, treasurer. Each member brought the clothes she had made, and fruits and vegetables which she had canned during the past week. They were judged by Miss Margaret T. Loar.

It was decided to hold the Christmas party at the home of Ursula Lindner sometime this month, the exact date to be announced later. The next business session will not be held until January. Routine business was transacted.

Each girl who went to the University of Maryland for 4-H day told what had impressed her most of all. The program also included group singing and a demonstration on how to wash a sweater, measuring it before washing in order to block it correctly while drying. It was given by Winifred Wotring and Margaret Rice.

Emmanuel Guild Will Have Card Party

A public card party will be held by the Guild of Emmanuel Episcopal church at 8 o'clock this evening in the parish house with Mrs. James M. Pitkethly as general chairman. ### Commercial Travelers Will Initiate Class of 25 Tomorrow

George F. Dusch, Fairmont, W. Va., grand counselor of the United Commercial Travelers, will be the principal speaker at a special victory celebration of Cumberland Council No. 179, United Commercial Travelers, to be held tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the meeting hall, South Mechanic street, F. L. Hawkins, senior counselor of the local lodge, announced last evening.

Twenty-five new members will be inducted into the lodge at the initiation, one of a series being held in conjunction with the order's anniversary.

At the ceremony, fifty-six members of the order's "Minute More" club who have distinguished themselves by outstanding fraternal service, will be honored.

During the year which closed March 31, the local council had a net gain of thirty-eight per cent. There are now 200 members in good standing in the lodge here.

Christmas carols and a program in observance of Christmas in honor of members in the armed service will be conducted by Clarence D. Valentine, member of the executive committee.

Fort Hill Receives Charter in Southern Accent Society

Fort Hill high school has become the first high school in the United States to receive charter membership in the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Southern Accents, originated by Walling Keith, editor of the Gadsden (Ala.) Times.

After three sophomore English classes at the school applied for membership by submitting letters describing Western Maryland's southern accent, the school received its membership card last week from the society's headquarters in Gadsden.

An accompanying letter stated that the society was founded as "a sincere protest to those who do not know the southern accent or the meaning thereof to cease exposing their ignorance and disgusting southerners." The society has already received so much publicity that the Gadsden Chamber of Commerce has had to assist in handling the correspondence.

MEN AND WOMEN IN SERVICE

Mrs. Bert Hammersmith has received word that her husband, Cpl. Bert Hammersmith, has arrived safely in England. Cpl. Hammersmith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl P. Hammersmith, 624 Columbia avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Helmstetter, 412 Frederick street, have received word that their son, T. Sgt. Edward L. Helmstetter, has arrived in Germany. Another son, Pfc. William J. Helmstetter, has been in Germany for approximately one month.

Tech. Sgt. Roland W. Hamilton, 21, Cumberland, radio operator-gunner of a B-17 Flying Fortress, attached to the Eighth air force bomber station in England, has received the Air Medal for meritorious achievement while participating in bombing attacks on vital German industrial targets, and on Nazi airfields, supply dumps and gun emplacements in support of advances by Allied ground forces. He is a son of Mrs. Joseph Zalzone, 455 Central avenue, Cumberland.

Master Sgt. James J. Brady, Midlothian road, Frostburg, has been elected president of the Enlisted Men's Club at a Fifteenth AAF Liberator bomber base in Italy. A former Celanese worker, Sgt. Brady enlisted in the air corps July 17, 1942, and went overseas eleven months ago as line chief in charge of maintenance of B-24 Liberator bombers. The group he is attached to has flown more than 120 combat missions and recently received the War Department Distinguished Unit citation.

Two Cumberland Soldiers Wounded

Two local servicemen have been wounded in action, according to yesterday's war casualty report.

Pfc. Richard A. Durst, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Durst, 5 Grand avenue, was wounded in Germany November 9. A former student at Beall high school, Frostburg, P. C. Durst entered the army in August, 1943, and went overseas last May. Now serving with Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third army, he participated in the D-day invasion of France.

Pvt. Charles W. Fisher, son of Mrs. Mary Fisher, 514 Montreal avenue, was wounded in the European theater of operations.

Weather in Nearby States

WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA and WEST VIRGINIA—Continued cold and rather windy with snow flurries.

Industrial Wages Here Increase, Report Indicates

Although employment in seventeen Cumberland industries was less in October this year than it was in October a year ago, payrolls in those industries have increased, according to the monthly report of activities released yesterday by the chamber of commerce.

The employment decrease was one of 417 persons while the payroll increase amounted to $22,303.21. The report showed that employment in October 1944 was 18,841, a decrease of 417 from the October 1943 total of 19,258.

Payrolls increased $22,303.21 from the October 1943 figure of $2,965,903.15 to the October 1944 total of $2,988,206.36.

In comparative figures for September and October of this year, increases were noted for the latter month in postal receipts, postal savings bonds and war stamps.

Postal receipts in September totaled $26,384.20 but increased by $5,196.14 to a total of $31,580.34 in October. Postal savings bonds increased by $900.50 from the September figure of $14,718.29 to the October figure of $15,618.79.

An increase of $9,452 was shown for postal savings deposits in which bracket the September total was $11,747 and the October total was $21,199. War stamp sales increased by $10,195. The September figure was $41,180 and the October total was $51,375.

A decrease of $3,311 was shown in the value of building permits in November as compared to those granted in October. The October value was placed at $5,257 and the November value at $1,946.

Figures of the United States Employment Service indicated that registrants as of November 15 were 130, a decrease of thirty-eight from the October 15 registration figure of 168. USES placements as of November 15 were 771, an increase of forty-seven over October 15 placements totaling 724.

Coal production in Maryland in September was 150,000 tons, a decrease of 24,000 tons from the August production of 174,000 tons.

Hadley Is Committed

Alvin Hadley, 514 Bedford street, was committed to the city jail for ten days yesterday in default of a $10 fine on a charge of disorderly conduct. He was arrested yesterday morning about 3:30 o'clock by Officers Fred O. Daum and Charles Mangas after, police were told, he created a disturbance at his home.

Only five years ago the Western Hemisphere witnessed the first successful flight of a helicopter.

Local Methodists Will Help Raise Fund

The Rev. S. Regester Neel, pastor of Trinity Methodist church and president of the Methodist Ministerial Association, announces that Dr. O. B. Langrall, superintendent of the Hagerstown district has given a call to the Methodist of the Cumberland Sub-district to take part in raising $25,000,000 for World Relief and Reconstruction.

This is the first phase of the denominational nationwide "Crusade for Christ," program. The Rev. Mr. Neel said last evening; and the goal for the Hagerstown district is $75,000 with the Methodist churches of the city of Cumberland responsible for $12,800. This intensive campaign for subscriptions is to be conducted through December, with each church setting its own goal and appointing its committees, the president of the association explained.

The Rev. Mr. Neel said this is an emergency fund to meet war caused needs in China, the Pacific Islands and Europe. A smaller part of the funds will be used for emergency needs in this country. The subdistrict includes all the churches of Allegany county and totals about 16,000 Methodists.

Tavern Is Robbed

Police last evening were investigating the reported theft of $40 in cash from the Kline and Reed restaurant, 32 North Centre street, yesterday morning. Police were told the place was closed at 12:30 a. m. and that he money was taken between then and 7:30 a. m. Detective Lt. R. Emmett Flynn was told the place was entered by thieves who broke out a wooden panel of a rear door and reached inside to open the door.

PARIS — Col. Frank L. Howley, former Philadelphia advertising man, is learning that regardless of what army textbooks say about civil affairs, in Paris it's mostly a sort of E. Phillips Oppenheim "Hellzapoppin'" show with characters ranging from a dazzling baroness to a dubious "paint salesman."

Col. Howley's civil affairs job is to help the French help themselves, and all characters in his show have their hands out — palms up. He is swamped with supplicants for everything from sub rosa passports to gasoline — but always with the genteel approach.

His table is piled deep with impressive embossed visiting cards. They were left by Paris's very best people — they say so themselves.

"Two elegant gentlemen with nice south-of-France suntans and Japanese silk ties were in," said Col. Howley. "They sat in those chairs there, and told me they made paint. They would like the Allies to use it."

The civil affairs officer asked if it perhaps was camouflage paint. It turned out they had made lots of it for the Germans and also made lots and lots of money. Col. Howley declared he had seen too many American boys dead beside camouflaged German equipment, and told the Frenchmen to go to the proper authorities with no passport from him.

A Baroness, of Course
And of course there was a baroness. She was beautiful and chic and had thousands of dollars worth of clothes. She also had a beautiful 18-year-old daughter — they all do.

It was charming, she said, to see such a nice American officer, and wouldn't the colonel have lunch with her and her daughter, and incidentally the French Forces of the Interior were investigating her chateau which the Germans had used, and her brother had been arrested, and wouldn't the charming colonel write a letter telling the FFI to desist?

A civil affairs officer must be polite. Col. Howley merely remarked that such things were beyond his authority. After which the baroness bombarded him with telephone calls, and finally asked for a pass to the low countries, which again was beyond his authority.

An Easy Problem
There was a distraught civilian who wanted back the business he had before the war, but which the Germans seized. He found it, he said, in the hands of an "American soldier."

But this proved an easy problem. The "soldier" was a French underground fighter in an American uniform. It was explained to him that this couldn't be done in the guise of an American.

"We gave him a nice receipt and everybody was happy," said the colonel.

And of course there are presidents and vice presidents of business firms with American affiliations who want notes from the American Army showing them to be well thought of by the civil affairs officer. Some also want to use the Army's mail facilities.

But the colonel is polite and suave in such cases. It grieves him, he says, that it is not his affair to write notes or to sign papers of any kind.

Scenes During and After Glisan Garage Fire

right of the photograph. At the right center, John Brennan, assistant fire chief, views some of the wreckage. Charred and fallen timbers are plainly visible. The picture was taken late yesterday morning from the entrance to the garage proper and adjoining the one-story showroom and office that escaped damage. At the lower left three of the more than a score of automobiles ruined by the flames are visible. These cars were stored in the corrugated steel building. The striking view shows how falling timbers mashed one of the cars. This picture shows the rear of the building after the walls had collapsed. Part of the front wall is still standing but the gaping hole where part of it collapsed on Centre street is clearly pictured in back of the lone standing but charred timber. The lower right photograph shows the entire 125-foot front of the garage building and graphically illustrates the complete destruction. The collapsed wall and the burned out windows add to the picture of ruin.

YORK, S. C. (AP)—Price controls are a century and a half old in this upper South Carolina town. Records of 1786, tell of judicially-imposed ceilings.

Inn keepers were fined five shillings, six pence, or about $1.37, for selling whiskey above "ceiling" prices.

Among top prices were: Breakfast, eight pence—about sixteen cents; dinner, one shilling—about twenty-five cents; supper, eight pence; a night's lodging in a "clean" feather bed—three pence; stabling and feeding a horse for one night, nine pence.

Proposed State Park Opposed

BALTIMORE, Nov. 30 (AP)—The proposed state purchase and development area of a vast tract of Calvert county fronting on the Chesapeake Bay has drawn objections before the State Legislative council on the grounds that it would be detrimental to privately owned beach enterprises.

Edgar S. Kolb, who described himself as general manager of the Bay Waters Operating and Beverly Beach Development Companies, told the Council his "opposition is based on the more or less objectionable feature, of the state entering into competition with private bathing and recreational enterprises."

The problem of existing beaches was getting enough business except on a few rush weekends during the hottest part of the summer, he said, adding that a state-owned beach which could offer more facilities for less money would be a serious handicap.

He said he felt the state's activity should be limited to offering the public services and conveniences which they were not getting adequately from private sources.

The proposed park area would comprise approximately 4,500 acres between Cove and Drum points near the confluence of the Patuxent river and Chesapeake Bay.

State Forester Joseph Kaylor, who outlined the plan in detail, said the purchase cost would be approximately $117,000 and that actual development could be deferred as a postwar project.

He asked for an enabling act so that the board of natural resources could acquire the property, through condemnation proceedings if necessary.

Gem of a Potato

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—A Santiago caballerero wore a potato as a "jewel" on his cravat in protest against governmental failure to control food prices, a local newspaper printed a picture of the "gem" on page one.

Mercy, What Confusion!

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE (AP)—The soldier couldn't figure out why the French civilian to whom he offered a pack of cigarettes began waving his hand and crying "merci, merci." "Mercy nothing! I am not going to hurt you!" said the private. "Have some cigarettes."

Plane Genius Keeps Feet on Ground

AIR-COOLED—His shirt blown out by the propeller blast, Inventor DeCaprio brings the "Tin Swish" to a stop by applying his GI brogans smartly to each front wheel.

AP Newsfeatures
HEADQUARTERS, PANAMA CANAL DEPARTMENT—Using a discarded auxiliary tank from a P-39 as a fuselage, Pvt. Albert M. DeCaprio, 22, of New Haven, Conn., invented what he and his buddies call the world's most useful non-flying airplane.

The three-point vehicle which whisks DeCaprio and other Coast Artillery ground crewmen up and down a plane runway on official errands has been christened "The Tin Swish." It kicks up a fuss like a B-29 in full throttle, and roars across the field, never leaving the ground, at fifteen miles per hour.

Its potential speed, DeCaprio explained, is well beyond forty miles an hour, but he will not open it up until a seat is installed in the now bare cockpit, until wings are grafted on her tin chassis, and until he dopes out a way of applying brakes to the tail wheel.

Meanwhile, he sits on a folded GI blanket and stops the propellererated from the ground by remote control. These include the landing gear, the bullet-riddled two-cylinder engine and twin cross-revolving propellers recovered from the ocean.

"There's no danger of her taking off," DeCaprio said. "The motor doesn't have enough lift. But just the same, do you know where I can get a parachute cheap?"

The Japanese variety of peppermint has a much higher menthol content and a less fragrant odor than native American peppermint.

Used Tires To Be Sold Unrationed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Used passenger car tires will be removed from rationing December 5. In announcing this, the OPA said distribution of used tires had become very spotty, with certificate holders unable to find suitable tires in many areas.

rationing of used tires has ceased to serve any valuable purpose and has become an unnecessary burden on local boards.

Used truck tires will continue under rationing.

Profit-Cashing Hits Stock Market, But Scattered Favorites Advance

By VICTOR EUBANK
NEW YORK, Nov. 30 (AP)—The stock market upswing stalled under profit cashing today and, while scattered favorites continued to reach for higher levels, many of Wednesday's climbing rails and industrials backed into losing territory.

Tops for 1944 were posted for American Telephone, Schenley and Electric Power and Light $7 preferred. Ahead were Western Union "A", Santa Fe, Goodrich, American Smelting, Consolidated Edison, Oliver Corp. and Kennecott.

Among casualties were U. S. Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Westinghouse, Allied Chemical, Cerro de Pasco, Dow Chemical, Johns-Manville and Eastman Kodak.

The recent forward pace of the bond market was slowed somewhat today but the main corporate list nonetheless managed to keep ahead in the most important divisions.

Trading activity fell off somewhat, although sales of $11,587,100 attest to a reasonably active session and compared with $13,608,500 on Wednesday.

U. S. governments were quiet.

FORTRESS GUNS MUST BE MADE TO TAKE PUNISHMENT AS WELL AS TO DISH IT OUT

WORKMEN LOAD an ammunition box with .50-caliber bullets for test.

By ANDREW R. BOONE
Central Press Correspondent
RENTON, Wash. — Exactly what happens when German and Jap 22-mm. cannon projectiles tear into a giant bomber's ammunition box? What kind of box best protects the ammunition and gunner — plywood, plastic or metal? At the Renton, Wash., army ordnance range, armament engineers of the Boeing Aircraft company get the answers by firing into such boxes loaded with 1,000 rounds of .50-caliber ammunition. A 20-mm. cannon bullet leaves the eight feet high and fifteen feet wide. Its ten-inch thick concrete walls, reinforced with steel rails, encase the gun-made thunder.

At the firing end of the range the building is enlarged into what is known as the "blast area." It's well named, too. If it were an ordinary building the blast from the gun muzzles would shake the daylight out of it.

Vents Let Gases Escape
However, the walls are lined with vents that furnish an escape for the rapidly expanding gases that propel a bullet from a gun. And the roof with its special ventilators extends above the building contour, providing a "quick exit" for the blast.

While most of the blast escapes through these vents, someone standing outside the range when a 75-mm. cannon is fired can see what remains of the blast falling down the range. The roof seems to ripple as the dust rolls up above the path of the blast.

At the far end of the long dark tunnel-like range is the target area where targets and test stands are set up. Behind these is a sand pit where spent bullets can harmlessly bury themselves.

Armament engineers at this range are able to make complete studies of gun "reactions" — what happens to a gun when it is fired, and how the condition of the barrel and the rigidity of the gun mount affects the action of the bullet after it has left the gun; also how the heating up of the gun affects the accuracy of the bullets at the target.

Armament men know that a gun does its best, most accurate job of firing mounted on a block of concrete. Since this is, of course, entirely impractical in an airplane, it is their job to find, somewhere between the block of concrete and loosely held gun, the ideal mounting device for an aircraft gun.

Tests Teach Much

Through these tests, too, the armament boys are learning hitherto unknown facts about gun recoil, counter recoil, use of adapters on machine guns for absorbing recoil, muzzle blast, feeding ammunition by using recoil and counter recoil action, and ejection of ammunition links and powder cases after firing. Guns tested include the .50 and 60-caliber machine guns, and the 20-mm., 37-mm., 40-mm., and 75-mm. cannon, as they fire ball, armor piercing, incendiary, high explosive and tracer bullets.

Armament engineers are interested in all of these kinds of ammunition and in determining what they call the "dispersion characteristics" of a gun — the pattern in which it lays different kinds of ammunition in a target.

Since recoil is one of the prime interests of armament men, the ballistic pendulum is one of the most important pieces of equipment in the firing range.

It is a swing hanging from the ceiling of the range, with a seat on which the gun to be tested is mounted.

A well below the "seat" of the swing follows along a track and the extent of its travel is measured by a potentiometer. The gun is fired by remote control and is free to swing as far as its recoil will drive it.

WHO'S GOING TO WIN ARMY-NAVY GAME?

Chip Royal Looks for Great West Point Team To Remain Unbeaten

Comdr. Oscar (Swede) Hagberg, Navy's head coach, draws a smile from Captain Ben Chase, the Middies' right guard, during a workout. They're hard at work hoping to hand Army its only setback this season.

Captain Tom Lombardo, Army quarterback who probably will watch Doug Kenna start as the signal caller in Army's famed "T" formation, and the Cadets' mentor, Lt. Col. Earl (Red) Blaik, look a bit worried. Could it be that Navy line?

College Court Stars Battle Pro Champs

CHICAGO, Nov. 30 (AP)—The College All-Star basketball team, selected in a coast-to-coast poll of coaches and experts, will be shooting for a fifth straight victory in the cage classic sponsored annually by the Chicago Herald-American when it meets the Port Wayne (Ind.) Zollners, world professional champions, here tomorrow night.

As both teams polished off in final drills, Manager Carl Bennett, of the Zollners and Coach Dutch Lonborg, of the All-Stars, agreed to refrain from "goal-tending" tactics. The All-Stars, especially, are equipped with giant lads capable of batting the ball out of the hoop. These include seven-foot Bob Kurland, of Oklahoma A. and M.; Donald Otten, of Bowling Green University (Ohio), who is one inch shorter, and six-foot, eight-inch William Henry, of Rice.

Injuries Bench Star

A succession of injuries kept Marino Marchi, giant Penn State tackle, on the sidelines throughout the 1944 football season.

NEW YORK—Now that the election is settled, there's only on question before Americans all over the world.

Who's going to win the Army-Navy game in Baltimore, Dec. 2?

Now that's really a subject for all the poll takers. But, the way opinion is divided here, aboard ship and in the fox holes, it's doubtful if anyone can figure out the winner.

Take the boys in the service. If they're in the army, they're sure the West Pointers will sink the Navy so deep in the dirt, at Baltimore stadium they'll come out in Australia.

The guys who sail the fleets just laugh and remind one and all that the Annapolis Midshipmen have torpedooed the Cadets five years in a row and there isn't any reason in the world why they can't make it six.

The sailors are particularly high this year because of their own. Comdr. Oscar (Swede) Hagberg, left his submarine after brilliant exploits in Japanese waters, to take over the head coaching job on the Sevens.

The soldiers, on the other hand, point out that Lt. Col. Earl (Red) Blaik was brought to the Point four years ago for the express purpose of beating Notre Dame and Navy.

It wasn't until this season that Red saw one of his teams win a major game—the 59-0 walloping handed the Irish. But in that victory Army rooters see the realization of one of the greatest teams to wear the black and gold colors.

The coaches stick true to form—and cry. If some of Uncle Sam's fighters could have heard the way a mentor from up the Hudson and another one from Annapolis flowed tears all over the luncheon table the other day they would probably laugh themselves sick.

The Army, or so one of Blaik's assistants said, is worried stiff over the powerful Navy line. The Middies, to quote one of Hagberg's aides, don't know how they'll ever stop West Point's speedy backs.

God, ain't it awful.

Notre Dame players, who should know something about the respective strength of the two service rivals, having bowed before both of them, say Navy is a cinch. Pat Filley, the South Benders' captain, has gone so far as to say the Annapolisans will win by three touchdowns.

So what's the answer? Who's going to win the Army-Navy game?

There's one thing we all must remember. A team must score touchdowns to gain a victory. That's why this agent takes the Army with its quick-opening T plays and speedy, alert backs who won't stop at the line of scrimmage.

It's a great year for Blaik and the Cadets.

Burlington, W. Va. Soldier Reported Missing in Action

Pfc. Olie Mick, 34, Has Been Unreported since November 12

By GEORGE W. DADDYSMAN
WESTERNPORT, Nov. 30.—Pfc. Olie Mick, 34, husband of Mrs. Virginia Sollars Mick, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Yeager Mick, Burlington, W. Va., and the father of six children is reported missing in action in France since Nov. 12, according to a telegram from the War department received by his mother today.

When he was inducted into the service he was employed at the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company and was residing with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Roderick, Wood street, of this place. A member of the infantry he was stationed at Camp Shelby, Miss., and Fort Jackson, S. C. He entered the service in Nov. 23, 1943 and arrived in France in August of this year.

Marriage Is Announced
Miss Caroline Jane Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver C. Miller, Bloomington, and Pfc. Angelo Frank Citarelli, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Citarelli, Keyser, W. Va., were married Saturday, Nov. 25 in the parsonage of the First Methodist church, Cumberland, by the Rev. George E. Baughman, with the double ring ceremony being used.

The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Miller.

The bride was attired in light blue with brown accessories with a corsage of yellow rose buds. Her mother wore black with a corsage of pink rose buds.

Mrs. Carl Miller, Miss Wanda Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Avelina Diaz also witnessed the ceremony.

Mrs. Citarelli attended Bruce high school of Westernport, and is employed at the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

Mr. Citarelli is a graduate of Keyser high school and before entering the service was employed at the Celanese plant and has just returned to the States after serving eighteen months in Bermuda.

The couple are visiting at Baltimore and after their return he will return to Ft. Jackson, S. C., where he is stationed. His wife will continue as an employee of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

Brief Items

A Christmas dance of the St. Peter's high school will be held at their hall, Church street, Westernport, Friday evening, Dec. 29. Dancing will be from 9-1.

The W.S.C.S. society of Trinity Methodist church of Piedmont will hold a bazaar at the church Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. A play directed by Mrs. Frank Dayton will be presented. Refreshments and fancy work will be on sale.

Mrs. Gertrude Galloway, Westernport, has returned from an extended visit with relatives in North Carolina.

Mrs. Oscar W. Johnson, Sr., has returned from a visit with her daughter, Mrs. John B. Ahlfield, Baltimore.

A meeting of Kelly-Mansfield Post No. 52 American Legion of Piedmont will be held Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Two members of the house committee will be elected.

The Kappa Delta Bible class will hold its class meeting and Christmas party in Trinity Methodist church, Piedmont, Monday night at 8 o'clock.

Gone with the Wind

NORFOLK, Va.—(AP)—Norfolk city lost 690 shade and decorative trees in the hurricane of September 14. A survey indicates in addition large sections of 191 others had to be amputated. Hundreds more privately owned trees were also hit.

Limbus is a theological term denoting the border of Hell, where dwell those who, while not condemned to torture, yet are deprived of the joy of Heaven.

Radio Stars Will Appear on Fourth WAVE Broadcast

Frank Munn, radio tenor, and Margaret Daum, concert and radio star, will be featured on the fourth transcribed program of the current series of broadcasts designed to stimulate WAVE recruiting. The fifteen-minute program will be presented over WTBO at 9:45 p. m. today.

Gus Haenschen and his orchestra will provide the musical background for the broadcast, and Howard Clancy, a veteran announcer, will act as master of ceremonies. The programs are produced by the Navy department.

Two Pennsylvania Soldiers Wounded

Two tri-state servicemen have been wounded in action, according to yesterday's war casualty report. Pfc. Alvin J. Jakes, USMC, son of Mrs. Hattie Jakes, Osterberg, Pa., was wounded in an undisclosed theatre of operations.

Pfc. Darrell R. Hollada, PFD 1, Somerset, Pa., has also been wounded on an undisclosed battle front, according to the report.

The first typewriter on record was one designed by Henry Mill, who patented it in 1714.

Ridgeley High Courtmen To Launch Season December 19 against Grads

Coach Art Scalli Has One Holdover Regular, Four Other Lettermen on Squad of 15

The Ridgeley High Blackhawk, working out under the direction of Coach Art Scalli, are preparing to open their 1944-45 basketball season December 19 when they oppose an Alumni combination.

Scalli, who came to Ridgeley this fall, has one holdover regular from last year and four other lettermen on his squad of fifteen players. The other ten boys are inexperienced.

Bob Stangle, guard, was a first-stringer last winter while Guard Jim "Baby" Blankenship, Forward "Ace" Comer and Jack Grove and Center "Bud" Phillips won letters last season.

The newcomers are Centers Clarence Largent, Joe Moss and "Bud" Jewell; Forwards Roland Stemple, Alfred Abe, Jimmie Flanagan and Robert Iser, and Guards Richards

Majors To Study Plan To Increase Player Limits

Replacement of Landis Will Be No. 1 Item at Joint Meeting

By JERRY LISK

CHICAGO, Nov. 30 (P)—Number one item of the major leagues' joint meeting Dec. 13 in New York will be the replacement of Kenesaw Mountain Landis as ruler of baseball, but the two circuits will also give special attention to the problem of players returning from military service.

Leslie M. O'Connor, secretary of the Commissioner Landis who died last Saturday, disclosed today that the steering committee of the American and National Leagues recently proposed that ten reinstated national defense list players should be added to each club's reserve list of forty players and five to the active list of twenty-five.

Will Harridge, president of the American League and member of a council which may govern baseball pending selection of Landis's successor, said the recommendation was to meet the impact of an expected sudden return of uniformed players.

He said club owners foresee the possibility that groups of their ex-hired hands—there are upwards of 500 players from both leagues on the national defense list—may suddenly return to civilian life and they want to be ready to screen them leisurely for talent.

Coach Earl (Red) Blaik as he watched his charges dash for the dressing room, "but we are playing the greatest Navy eleven I have ever seen in the twenty-five years I have been associated with West Point football."

Blaik said that Dick Pitzer, starting left end, had virtually recovered from the leg injury suffered in last Saturday's scrimmage and would be on the field at the kick-off. Barney Poole will take over if Pitzer is slowed up too much.

Queen City Brewers To Banquet Tomorrow

The Queen City Brewers, 1944 champions of the Pen-Mar Baseball League, will hold their annual banquet Saturday night at 7 o'clock at the LaVale fire hall. The Brewers won the title by winning three straight games from the Centerville (Pa.) Reds in the playoff series.

When the steering group met Nov. 17 it announced only that it had recommended the re-election of Landis as commissioner and extension of the major league agreement.

Jerome (Judy) McAtee of the Detroit Red Wings, rookie from Indianapolis, started his National Hockey career this season with three goals.

COURT SEASON BRINGS FOUR RULES CHANGES

With Cumberland's scholastic basketball season scheduled to get under way next week, and copies of the 1944-45 court rules not to be had in the city, here are the four rules changes made at the annual meeting of the National Basketball Rules Committee of the United States and Canada:

A defensive player is prohibited from touching the ball on a try for goal on its downward flight to the basket (this means a goal tender cannot touch the ball at or near the basket unless it is moving upward).

Five personal fouls allowed instead of four.

Unlimited substitutions.

Referee may allow time out due to injury regardless of which team may have possession of the ball.

Stewart C. Paxton, president of the Western Maryland and Eastern Virginia District Board of Approved Basketball Officials has notified local board members of the changes.

Golf Stars Meet At San Francisco

By RUSS NEWLAND

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30 (P)—Siammin Sam Snead, who hit golf's comeback trail in winning fashion last week, will be the sentimental favorite when the field tees off tomorrow in the seventy-two hole San Francisco open but hard shelled observers bracketed the defending champ, Byron Nelson, as the man to beat for top prize.

Nelson, biggest money winner of 1944, tow-roped the field to win the San Francisco open last year, followed by his running mate, Harold McSpaden, of Philadelphia. The Harding park public links, scene of the tournament this winter as last, seemingly is made to order for the Toledo, O. star and McSpaden.

It is fairly flat, long and tree-bordered but these two seldom have failed to pick it's par 72 to pieces. They have the jump on Snead, in one respect—familiarity with the course.

Snead, nevertheless, already has been established as "the people's choice." The golfing public was intrigued by his spectacular return to major tournament competition after more than two years in the navy. He beat practically the same field in the Portland open, with a one-over par 287 for seventy-two holes.

More than 150 pros and amateurs will have the same objective as Snead, Nelson and McSpaden, in the $14,500 war bonds event. First prize is $2,666 in bonds. The tournament, eighteen holes daily, will end Monday.

Local board members are John J. "Bobby" Cavasagh, Cliff Fearer, Maxwell M. Aithey and Van Roby. Roby is now in the service.

Racing Returns To Florida Today

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 30 (P)—President James Dunn looked up at a cloudless Florida sky today, noted a nip in the air and upped to 25,000 or more his estimate of the number of spectators who will be on hand tomorrow when horse racing returns to long-idle Gulfstream park.

"If the cool weather continues the attendance may exceed 25,000," said Dunn, head of a syndicate which revived Gulfstream to take advantage of the wartime turf boom.

"We have toiled hard and long to bring Gulfstream to a state of perfection, and opening day visitors will find one of the most beautiful tracks it is possible to imagine.

Seventeen better - than - average thoroughbreds were named for the $2,500 inaugural handicap, and the six-furlong race was split into two sections.

Gulfstream was completed just in time to open Feb. 1, 1939. Financial difficulties developed and the track was closed after four days. For five years creditors fought over their claims in bankruptcy court. Dunn and his associates bought most of the claims, and got permission from the court only last summer to reopen the track.

Bainbridge Hoopmen Open Season Tonight

BAINBRIDGE, Md., Nov. 30 (P)—The Bainbridge naval training center basketball squad, which boasts an imposing collection of former college stars, will open its 1944-45 campaign tomorrow night at Millville, N. J., with the army air force team there as opponents.

The fast break probably will be emphasized by Coach John Wydro, due to the group of speedsters comprising the outfit. They include Paul Crossin, of the University of Pennsylvania; Al Goldstein, C.C.N.Y.; Hal Lambert, Rice Institute; "Red" Lener, South Philadelphia high; Paul Armstrong, Indiana university, and Ken Corley, Oklahoma State. They are all out for forward positions.

Plugging for guard berths are Loyola's Jim Lacy; Long Island U's Sol Schwartz; Herman Schaefer, ex-Indiana; Frank Prascella, formerly of Villanova; Bruce Gehlke, of Columbia, and Floyd Hamilton, of West Virginia.

At center Eusign Wydro has three choices, Douglas Holcomb, Wisconsin; Ben Goldstein, of George Washington, and Lester Mintz, formerly of New York university.

Local Court Outfit Will Drill Tonight

The recently-organized Cumberland independent basketball team will practice tonight at 8 o'clock at the SS. Peter and Paul school gym. The club has arranged to meet Fort Hill high cagers in a practice game next Wednesday night at 8 o'clock at the Fort Hill gym.

Navy Hopes Get Boost; Jenkins Slated To Start

Middies' Leading Ground-Gainer Recovers from Infected Foot

By JOHN F. CHANDLER
ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 30 (AP)—Navy nudged near an even break choice against Army today as Bob Jenkins, of Alabama, left halfback and leading ground-gainer for the Middies, recovered from an infected foot and returned to the starting lineup for Saturday's crucial pigskin clash before some 70,000 in Baltimore's municipal stadium.

And where there was a slight cloud of gloom before, the lands on the banks of the blue Severn were calmly confident the future admirals would make it six straight victories in their traditional service series with the West Pointers.

Yet, while Navy gained a key first string back, Annapolis coaches disclosed the probable loss of a second string fullback, Fred Earley, with a broken finger received in practice. Earley, who was transferred from Notre Dame this year, is one of Navy's best blockers, as well as a capable ball carrier.

Navy coaches said Jenkins, regarded as one of the year's best line crushers, probably wouldn't be "100 per cent ready for Army—approximately ninety per cent—which is better than nothing" and that he had been wearing soft padding in his shoe to protect the injury.

Free-Scoring Game Seen
Jenkins suffered the foot infection early this week, after being out since Nov. 11 with a "charley-horse" received in the Cornell game. He had been returned temporarily last Saturday, but the new ailment kept him from practicing until today when he was put through a signal session and some defense work.

With Jenkins in shape, Comdr. Oscar E. Hagberg, Navy coach, can master-mind with two triple threat performers, the other being little 150-pound Hal Hamberg, of Lenoire, Ark., Navy's finest passer. Hamberg also had been out of action for several weeks with a pulled leg muscle, but is in good shape for this one.

Hamberg's passes played leading roles in Navy's victories over the Cadets the last two years.

Around the academy, Navy men thought the game would be a free-scoring affair, but not the point-a-minute jamboree the all-victorious West Point Cadets have run up against eight opponents this fall.

"The Navy team is ready for its best game of the year," Hagberg repeated. "If the boys don't make too many mistakes, I think we have a good chance of winning."

Middies Rely on Great Line
Hagberg wasn't underestimating Army one bit, however, as he recalled the 481 points the Cadets have run up this season while holding their opponents to a total of just four touchdowns, not more than one in any game.

"We've been hearing that they've got the greatest team in history," he said, adding: "No doubt Army is potent, and they have enough to really pour it on us if they get going."

Navy is depending on its great line, probably the best in college football, to see that the Army's "T"-formation never gets going, by swarming such speedsters as Glenn Davis, Doug Kenna, Doc Branchard, and others before they can blast clear on those long runs that ruined Notre Dame, Pennsylvania and Duke.

Hagberg said his entire squad of fifty-two players would go to Baltimore, where Annapolis will be bus about 11 a. m. Saturday.

The Midshipman regiment—approximately 3,000 strong which will attend the game along with the West Point cadet corps—will whoop it up at a pep rally tomorrow night in front of the Tecumseh statue.

Commodores Pick All-Opponent Team
BAINBRIDGE, Md., Nov. 30 (AP)—The undefeated and untied Bainbridge Commodores, taking advantage of a rainy afternoon, came up today with an all-opponent team which gave four places to a tough Camp Peary (Va.) eleven, twice defeated by Bainbridge.

The naval training center gridlers also selected two each from North Carolina pre-flight, Camp Lejeune and Maxwell field.

John (Zero) Clements, of the Maxwell Field Marauders, who face Bainbridge in the final game of the season Sunday in a return match, was selected as the best back to run against the Commodores this year.

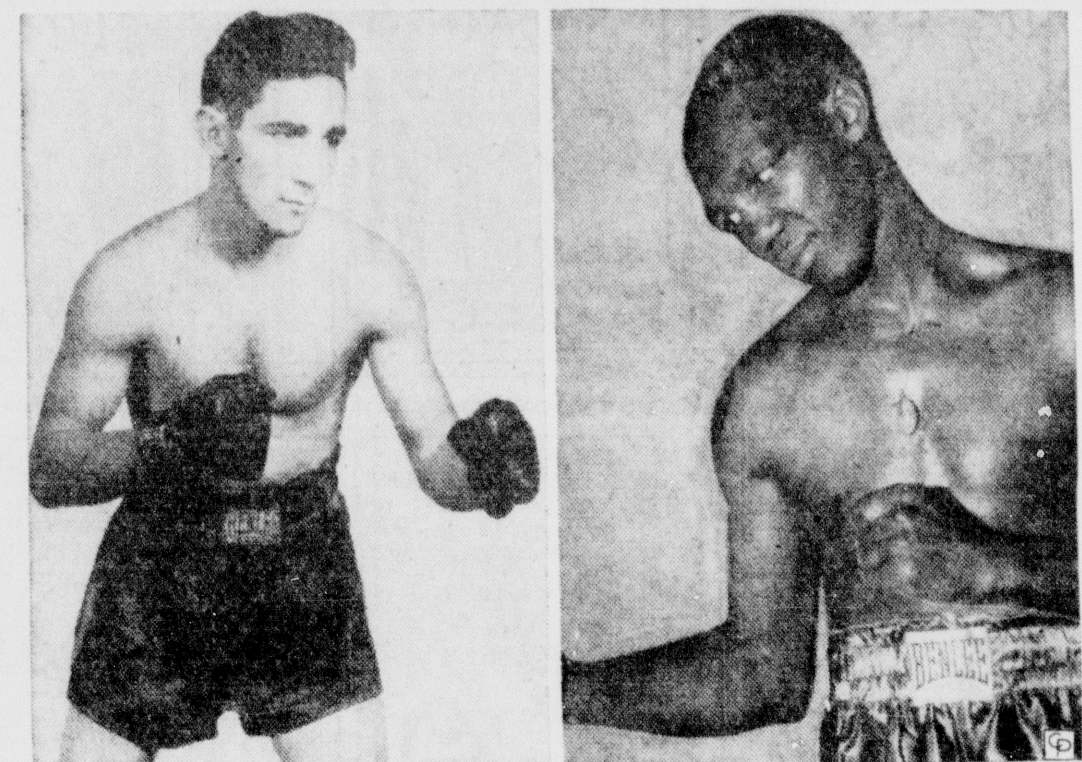

In the line it was a tossup between a pair of tackles—Lou De Pillipo, of Camp Peary, and Oliver Poole, of Lejeune.

The first team:
Warren Anderson, North Carolina navy pre-flight, and Dub Lamb, Maxwell field, ends; Philipo and Poole, tackles; Russ Letlow, Camp Peary, and Ray Vranka, Cherry Point Marines, guards; Al Matzuca, Camp Peary, center; Johnny Clements, Maxwell field; Elroy Hirsch, Camp Lejeune; Bob Morrow, Camp Peary, and Otto Graham, pre-flight, backs.

The second team:
Ralph Schilling (Peary) and Lafayette King (Cherry Point), ends; Ben Lum (pre-flight) and Willie Robinson (Camp Lee), tackles; Harry Buffington (Maxwell field) and Dale Pulver (pre-flight), guards; Bill Gray (Lejeune), center; Louis Gheas (Camp Lee), Johnny Podesto, (Lejeune), Cotton Price (Peary) and Hugo Marceloni (Cherry Point), backs.

William and Mary Smothers Richmond
RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 30 (AP)—William and Mary's Redskins had a field day at the expense of the University of Richmond before 5,000 shivering spectators here today as Halbacks Stanley Magdziak and Jack Bruce scored three touchdowns each behind a stout forward wall which opened up holes in the spic-e-line and gave the Tribe a 40-0 victory.

IMPORTANT MEETING of Willie Pep, the featherweight boxing champion, and Chalky Wright, former titleholder in Cleveland, Dec. 5, gets the winter boxing season off to a good start. The bout, one of two ten-round tilts, headlines the nineteenth annual Christmas Toy Shop show with receipts going to the purchase of toys for poor children. Pep and Wright have fought twice before.

Frostburg Cage Loop Races Will Resume Monday

Moose Teams Trim Eagles after Losing to Republican Club Quints

FROSTBURG, Nov. 30 — The Frostburg Recreation Association launched its 1944-45 basketball program this week and in opening games, the Eagles defeated American Legion 6-4, the Knights of Columbus topped the Elks 12-10 and the Republican club trimmed the Moose 18-7 in the junior circuit and American Legion edged out the Eagles 43-42, the Elks turned back K. of C. 35-29 and the Republicans laced the Moose 46-20 in the senior division.

The race will resume next Monday with the Moose opposing the Elks on the Frostburg State Teachers' college court, the Eagles meeting the Republicans at Beall high and K. of C. outflitting colliding with American Legion teams at St. Michael's.

Participation in the league is dependent upon maintenance of satisfactory scholastic averages. To be eligible for tournament competition, a player must have been present or have participated in at least seventy-five per cent of scheduled games.

Wednesday night, the Moose won a twin-bill from the Eagles with the Moose juniors scoring a 23-10 victory and the Moose seniors marking up a 46-40 triumph. James Adams had eight points for the Moose juniors while John Morgan paced the winners in the senior tussle with ten field goals. The scores:

Fort Ashby Will Honor Grid Team

PORT ASHBY, W. Va., Nov. 30 — The boys who made possible Fort Ashby high school's first football team the past season will be guests of honor at a banquet next Tuesday evening starting at 6:30. The school's athletic association is making the necessary arrangements for the dinner, open to parents of squad members and the public.

"We are doing this with one purpose in mind—to keep interest in the game alive," Coach Ben Simoncelli said. "I'm sure this will be a big thing for the boys. Many of them never had the opportunity to enjoy the benefits football affords."

Simoncelli said the members of the 1944 squad deserves a lot of credit for "staying out and competing against teams above their class—taking 'poundings' and liking it."

A feature of the banquet will be the presentation of football letters to Joe Powell, Cliff Kern, Calvin Davis, Gene Welch, James Whitacre, Donald Larson, Donald Linn, Earl Borror, Ronald May, Donald Frankland, David Malone, Bill Frase, Harold Umstot, Wendall Bohrer, Frank Walker, Bernard Doughitt, Paul Davis, Melvin Wolford and Wilbert Dohman.

Texas Aggies Lose 6-0 to Longhorns
MEMORIAL STADIUM, AUSTIN, TEX., Nov. 30. (AP)—The jinx of Memorial stadium, where no Texas Aggie team ever has triumphed, stood again today on the passing and running greatness of blond Bobby Layne, who led the Texas Longhorns to a 6-0 triumph before a howling throng of 43,000 that thrilled to a brilliant battle of vicious goal line stands.

In one minute and twenty-five seconds of play Texas got its touchdown again but this time the Maryland line held and the Terps took over on their forty just before the closing gun.

The Maryland line furnished the margin of victory and although the Old Liner backs registered few long gains the steady plugging was good enough for the necessary yardage in the first quarter.

A twenty-one-yard run by Behr gave Maryland a scoring chance in the second frame but the Keydets held. The lineups:

Maryland Tops VMI Cadets, 8-6, As Linemen Star

Old Liners Score First Victory on Touchdown and Safety

ROANOKE, Va., Nov. 30 (AP)—The University of Maryland nosed out VMI 8-6 in the annual Thanksgiving game played at Victory stadium here today for its first win of the season.

The Old Liners outplayed the youthful Cadets for three quarters after they had sent Troil, fullback, over the goal line after four plunges from the eighteen. They added a safety in the second when Kozorza's punt was blocked by Doory, left end for the Terps.

VMI came to life late in the contest and after threatening once shook Right Halfback Elmer Kozorza loose for a twenty-yard touchdown aping. The Cadets came back to threaten again but this time the Maryland line held and the Terps took over on their forty just before the closing gun.

The Maryland line furnished the margin of victory and although the Old Liner backs registered few long gains the steady plugging was good enough for the necessary yardage in the first quarter.

The 29-year-old Californian, who recently came under the wing of Manager Jimmy Johnston, intends to do no fighting until 1945. He will limit his training to ordinary road work and calisthenics.

Until his injury, Nova had been making a successful comeback after his knockout by Louis in 1941, winning seventeen of eighteen fights this year. Before departing, the former international amateur heavyweight champion said that with Johnston to steer him, he feels certain to earn another shot at the title.

Average 47 Points

Although well back of Army's scoring pace, Randolph field is ahead of the all-time grid standard set by Tulsa U. in 1942. Tulsa scored 427 points in ten games, an average of 42.7, while the Ramblers have averaged forty-seven per tilt.

In loving memory of Bonnie Jean Cross, who died one year ago, December 1, 1943.

Our child was fair, who came from Heaven to see
What this great world

Brief was his visit, filled
with tears and pain;
God pitied him and took him home again.

W Cause of Glisan T Garage Fires B Still Unknown

Ar Authorities Continue
Probe of Theft of $200
from Office

Authorities last night still were unable to determine the cause of the fire that early yesterday morning destroyed the Glisan garage on North Centre street with an estimated loss of $100,000.

Another fire, which fronted the west side of the same building, was the theft of $200 from a cabinet in the undamaged garage adjoining the destroyed structure.

There was no indication of the time the robbery occurred or whether the person committing the theft caused the fire. In the meantime, investigation of the fire and theft was being continued.

Charles A. Smith, service manager at the garage, reported last night that a check yesterday showed that thirty-eight automobiles and trucks and one motorboat were destroyed in the blaze instead of the thirty-five automobiles and trucks and boat as previously reported.

Cars Total Loss
The cars, Smith said, were a total loss and could only be junk. He said that four cars stored in the display room were not damaged. Smith estimated the cost of lost parts at least $5,000 and said that valuable tools and other equipment were wiped out.

Lt. R. Emmett Flynn and Officer John W. Snyder discovered the fire at 12:30 a. m. yesterday and summoned the city's four fire companies to the scene. The building was a mass of flames when firemen arrived.

Efforts of the firemen, however, prevented the spread of the flames to the Shiner Standard Motor Company building, separated from the burning building by a three-foot alley, reported to be partly filled with an estimated fifteen tons of coal. Firemen also prevented the flames from spreading to the Glisan garage adjoining the destroyed structure.

The office and the room built of tapestry brick in 1921 are undamaged largely because of the firemen's efforts and because of fireproof doors between the two structures.

Theft Discovered
The robbery was discovered between 3:30 and 4 a. m. yesterday by Smith and Lt. James E. Van who went into the showroom and found the cash register open. The cash started to flicker on and off.

Smith and Officer E. M. Powell were in the building about 1:30 a. m. to see if the fireproof doors were closed and at that time did not go into the office where the theft occurred.

State Attorney Morgan C. Harrier, who is conducting the investigation, said Smith and Lt. Van, when they entered the center of the fire, discovered papers strewn about the floor and found that a door on a steel cabinet had been opened and drawers inside the cabinet also had been opened.

Although time of the robbery has not been placed, W. H. Gill, night watchman, left the building at 12:02 a. m. and police said he told them "everything was perfect then." The fire was discovered nearly half an hour later.

Believe Heat Broke Window
A broken window was found in the rear of the showroom, but authorities said they believed it was broken by the intense heat of the fire and cold water dripping on the glass.

The fire burned for more than two hours before it finally was brought under control and firemen battled the flames until about 7 a. m. before they felt the worst was over. Central firemen went to the scene several times yesterday to wet down the area and prevent a possible outbreak.

At one stage firemen played six streams of water the fire in the rear of the showroom, but the rear walls of the building and a part of the front wall. The only injury reported was to Victor J. Long, of Central, who suffered an injured leg when he was knocked down by a hose. He is expected to report to his home today.

Police rescue children
Police were forced to break in the door of the home of Victor J. Long, of Central, to rescue the family of ten from the apartment that was rapidly filling with smoke.

John J. Triebler, assistant chief of police, said that Officers Snyder, Arthur Kennel and Thomas J. Seeford, who were called to the scene, found the family of ten in the apartment and carried them to the foot of the stairs.

Auxiliary policemen and two servicemen carried the children across the street. Mrs. Hugh Robinson, a neighbor, took the family to her apartment for the night.

City police were profuse in their praise of auxiliary policemen who they said took over the task of directing traffic shortly after the fire broke out.

War Victim's Car Lost
Among the cars that were prey to the flames was a 1938 Chevrolet owned by Staff Sgt. Victor Paul Zorman, son-in-law of Clarence E. Gross, Baltimore road. The Dinslow was killed in action in France July 30, 1944.

A number of other men now in the service lost cars in the fire, including Joseph W. Clay, of the navy, a 1940 Mercury, and G. E. Shinholt, now with the United States Army in Africa, a 1939 Dodge.

Other cars destroyed in the fire belonged to: Walter W. White, 29 Plymouth; C. E. Keller, 31 Buick; J. J. Bender, 37 Dodge; Louis Soterakos, 36 Dodge; H. P. Sowers, 37 Pontiac; G. E. Shinholt, 39 Dodge; Raymond Meyers, 39 Nash; A. H. Amick, 32 Dodge; Howard E. Douglas, 40 Plymouth; Mrs. Cecil Lawrence, 37 Ford; Lee H. Taylor, 39 Dodge; C. M. Miller, 36 Plymouth; Jack McPartland, 38 Chevrolet; A. K. Wray, 39 Plymouth; Richard Beckmeyer, 36 Dodge.

"MY SISTER EILEEN" TO BE PRESENTED AT FORT HILL TONIGHT

"My Sister Eileen," the movie and stage success, will be presented by the Fort Hill Players under the direction of Miss Gerardine Pritchard at 8:15 p. m. today in the Fort Hill high school auditorium.

The premiere stage production was given in 1940 and since then the comedy has been made into a movie.

The scene of the play is laid in the Greenwich Village apartment of "Eileen," portrayed by Vivian Strieby, and "Ruth," Jeannine Moler, who came from Columbus, Ohio, to live in New York.

Dress rehearsal of the three act comedy was held last evening. Approximately 1,000 tickets have been sold for tonight's only performance.

Fund Drive Total Reaches $77,690, Report Discloses

Campaign Is Extended to
Tuesday; County Donation in Doubt

The Allegany County National War Fund and Cumberland Community Chest campaign total stood at $77,690.88 last night after an audited report of $30,235.08 was held at noon in Central YMCA.

Campaign officials announced that the drive will be carried over until Tuesday so that workers will have more time to cover the entire field in the city and county for subscriptions. The victory dinner scheduled for tonight in Central YMCA was postponed.

Officials explained that sources from which more than $3,000 was secured last year is not available this year, thus handicapping the campaign to that extent.

Harold W. Smith, president of the Community Chest, added that the matter of the contribution of the county through the county commissioners still is under advisement.

Threatens Success
He said he hopes the contribution will be made as in previous years and added that it is unfortunate that with the largest goal that has ever been undertaken in Allegany county that the success of the campaign would be threatened by failure of the county subscription to materialize.

It has been the custom to allocate fifty per cent of the contribution through the county commissioners to the county section and the remaining fifty per cent to the advance gifts committee. Lack of the money threatens to keep both the county and city from reaching their goals, campaign leaders said.

To overcome the deficiency in event the county contribution is not forthcoming, section leaders met with Edmund S. Burke, general chairman of the campaign, and agreed unanimously to extend the campaign period to Tuesday evening so that complete coverage can be made.

Women Exceed Goal
Yesterday the women's section, Mrs. William Douglas, chairman, went over its $5,500 goal by more than $1,300. The women's total to date is $6,812.38, or 116 per cent of their goal.

The classified section also submitted a surprisingly good report at yesterday's meeting, boosting its total from $8,060 to $13,198, or eighty-eight per cent of its $15,000 goal.

Miles G. Thompson, section chairman, is confident his workers could have exceeded their goal by Friday night, but solution will be continued until Tuesday in a move to build up a surplus.

The county section showed surprising strength by stepping up its total from $2,879 to $7,959, or thirty-two per cent of its $25,000 goal. Harry G. Shupe, county chairman, said that although returns are encouraging, more time will be needed to reach the goal.

Need More Time
The union industrial section jumped from $5,822 to $7,163, or thirty-six per cent of the goal of $20,000. Harry A. Porch, one of the leaders of that section, predicted that the goal will be exceeded but said that more time is needed.

At yesterday's report, the national firm section Joseph V. Tuk, chairman, jumped from $1,130 to $2,500, attaining eighty-four per cent of its goal. The advanced gifts committee, William A. Gunter, chairman, boosted its total from $14,765 to $38,977, also reaching eighty-four per cent of the goal.

Police Will Join
IN CAMPAIGN FOR SAFE CHRISTMAS

The Cumberland Police Department will co-operate in the national campaign of the National Safety Council to prevent accidents during the Christmas holiday season. Oscar A. Eyerman, chief of police, announced yesterday.

The program will be opened December 15 when, experience has shown, traffic accidents begin to increase sharply.

Home front accidents, according to National Safety Council statistics, are 280,000 dead and 29,000,000 injured as a result of accidents of all kinds.

These accidents, which caused the loss of 1,000,000,000 man-days, represent lost time equivalent to the time needed to build 70,000 bombers and thirty battleships.

Applauding as the casualties suffered by the armed forces may be, they are only a fraction of the casualties to Americans on the home front. Since Pearl Harbor, the armed forces have listed 108,897 dead, 257,653 injured, 63,043 missing and 58,692 imprisoned.

Harry Flook, Jr., Is Promoted to First Lieutenant

Recently Received Oak
Leaf Cluster for Skill
on Bombing Missions

Harry E. Flook, Jr., 21, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Harry E. Flook, Buckingham road, who is a pilot at an English air force B-17 Flying Fortress base in England, was promoted from second lieutenant to first lieutenant on Nov. 3, according to word received here this week by his mother.

A news release received by the News yesterday, from Lt. Flook's base in England, states that the Oak Leaf cluster to the Air Medal was recently awarded to him. This award is equivalent to a second award of the medal, for "courage, courage and skill" displayed in bombing attacks over Germany.

Lt. Flook wrote his mother that on a recent bombing mission over Germany the crew started a bombing run through three miles of fog and that another Fortress almost collided with his bomber. The local pilot wrote that he put his ship into a steep dive and as a result the bombs loosened in the racks. As soon as he was able to pull the bomber out of the dive the crew opened the bomb doors and dropped the bombs before any damage was done to the ship or members of the crew.

Mrs. Flook was advised by her son that he recently received a "dak leave" in Paris, but said she did not know how many missions her son completed before being entitled to the leave.

Prior to entering the army air force in October 1942, Lt. Flook was a student at the University of Maryland. His father was recently transferred to Indian town Gap, Pa., where he is now stationed.

Snowfall Makes Roads Hazardous
In This Section

Cindering Crews Called
Out; Temperature Drops
Below Freezing

State police last night were advising motorists to put chains on their cars or stay off the roads altogether if possible after snow, falling in sub-freezing temperature, coated all the highways in this section.

Although no accidents were reported, police said all roads, especially on hills, were extremely slippery. Cumberland had the first taste of slippery streets this season when snow fell here for a brief period last night.

Several inches of snow were reported in the vicinity of Frostburg and on the mountains west of Cumberland as well as those as far east of this as Hancock.

Traffic Stalled
Early last night state police reported traffic stalling on slippery hills in the vicinity of Frostburg and McCoolie and on Martin's mountain. State roads commission crews were dispatched to cinder roads in the county early last night and at midnight reported most of the bad spots had been taken care of.

The exact number of men working was not learned but employees said there was "quite a bunch." They moved from one danger spot to another as rapidly as possible but the suddenness of the snowfall coating all roads at once together with a manpower shortage handicapped them in their work.

In Cumberland the temperature at midnight was twenty-two degrees below freezing and a minimum in the neighborhood of fifteen degrees above zero was expected before morning.

Stormy at Deal
The Western Maryland railway reported a temperature of twelve degrees above zero at Thomas, W. Va., at midnight with about five inches of snow covering the ground. It was still snowing there.

At Deal, Pa., the Western Maryland reported, the temperature also stood at twelve above zero at midnight. That section was reported "very stormy" and the wind was said to be blowing a gale. Deal also had five inches of snow.

Learns a Lot
Ship's Cook Reta Ryan enlisted in the SPARS and began training November 15, after working a short time at the Allegany-Ordnance Plant. She has been stationed at Charleston since graduating from Palm Beach, and Cooks and Bakers school.

In speaking of her experiences she said, "of course I had some food experience before I started in Cooks and Bakers school, but I certainly have learned things. Cooking in the big workings of what used to be the Baltimore was a lot different from working around my mother's kitchen, for on the training ship at Palm Beach we learned not only how to prepare nutritious foods, but what's more difficult we learn how to do it in quantity."

3 Men Forfeit Bonds
On Gaming Charges

Three men forfeited $25 bond each in police court yesterday morning when they failed to appear on charges of operating gaming devices. They were arrested at 11:30 p. m. Wednesday by Assistant Chief of Police John J. Triebler and Officers Thomas J. See and Arthur Kennel in raids on billiard rooms in the business section.

The men are Cecil Sagie, booked on the docket as operating an establishment at 35 North Liberty street; Joseph Kropot, of the State Billiard Parlor, 27 North Mechanic street; and Thomas Maus, of the Gem Recreation Parlor, 35 North Mechanic street. Dice games were in progress at the establishments at 35 North Liberty and at 27 North Mechanic while a card game was in progress at the Gem recreation parlor, police said.

William Reiber, 49, Douglas street, Lonaconing, is in a "good" condition in Memorial hospital where he was admitted yesterday at 9:30 a. m. suffering from a fractured right leg as a result of an early morning cave-in of the Maryland Fuel mine of the Jenkins Coal Company.

Attaches were told the miner was pinned between the fallen timbers of the mine and a mine car for two hours before he was rescued. His condition was "good" last evening, attaches said.

Jesse W. Bell, 53, 636 Bedford street, C. and P. linesman, who was injured Wednesday when the hand car he was riding went out of control near Barton, is suffering from several fractured bones of the right foot, x-rays taken yesterday disclosed.

Mrs. Wyand F. Doerner, 14 North Johnson street, is in a "good" condition in Allegany hospital where she was admitted Wednesday suffering from a fracture of the right collarbone. Mrs. Doerner, relief supervisor of Allegany hospital, said she was injured when she fell from a chair as she was cleaning windows at her home.

Grant McPartland, 48, 407 Fayette street, was treated in Allegany hospital Wednesday afternoon for a laceration on the bridge of the nose suffered, he said, when he fell.

Harry E. Flook, Jr., 21, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Harry E. Flook, Buckingham road, who is a pilot at an English air force B-17 Flying Fortress base in England, was promoted from second lieutenant to first lieutenant on Nov. 3, according to word received here this week by his mother.

TO ATTEND 4-H CONGRESS— Two Allegany county sisters, Miss Imogene Ryan (left) and Ship's Cook Reta M. Ryan (right) will attend the National 4-H Congress in Chicago which opens to- morrow. (See story.)

Two Union Grove Girls Will Attend National 4-H Congress in Chicago

Imogene Ryan To Represent
Maryland as Food
Preservation Winner

Miss Imogene Ryan, a member of the Union Grove 4-H Club, Junior Extension Club, Allegany County Council of 4-H Clubs, and the state and county honorary All Star Organizations, will represent Maryland as state food preservation winner at the National 4-H Club Congress to be held in Chicago beginning tomorrow through December 8. Miss Ryan will be accompanied by her sister, Ship's Cook Reta M. Ryan of the United States Coast Guard, stationed at Charleston, S. C., who was Served food preparation winner in 1941, and will be a special guest at the Served tenth anniversary. Both are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Alvey R. Ryan, RFD 3.

Explains Activities
Speaking of her 4-H club activities, Imogene explained that she considered her club work next to the policy of keeping America the individual club members, making them strive to climb to higher goals of achievement and to "always make the best better," as well as develop leadership, self confidence, will power, initiative, morals and individuality, thereby making better citizens.

In discussing her food preservation project Imogene explained that the policy of keeping America strong, healthy physically-fit nation can best be answered by having a garden and preserving the food at home. Besides learning in club work that this is the most economical way, she says the significance of making the meals appetizing as well as wholesome is stressed. The only way to accomplish this during the winter months is to have a varied supply of fruits, vegetables and meats ready to prepare at a short notice, she continued.

A graduate of Fort Hill high school class of 1944, Imogene, who is 17 years old, has been a 4-H club member for eight years, and is an assistant club leader; was song leader for four years, took part in club and camp programs, participated in safety programs, food preservation, food preparation, clothing, gardening, home furnishing and home management projects. In her years of club activities she has won $107 in prizes in gardening, clothing and canning projects.

Griffith To Return
Mitchell Griffith of the Treasury department will come to Cumberland today to assist leaders in the Sixth War Loan drive. He is chiefly interested in the payroll deduction program and will discuss this matter with industrial plant heads during his visit.

Cromwell was notified yesterday by the Treasury department that an allocation of $100 in series "G" bonds purchased by Morris Hacker is being made to Allegany county. The message failed to state Hacker's business or where the bonds were purchased.

Court Asked To Name
Trustee To Sell
Frostburg Property

Asking the court to appoint a trustee to sell a Frostburg property and divide the proceeds among those entitled to them, Leo Chambers filed suit in circuit court yesterday against Mr. and Mrs. Francis Chambers.

Under the will of Mrs. Mary Chambers, who died August 10, 1941, a property located at 27 Uhl street, Frostburg, was left to her son, Leo, for life, while the property located at 21 Uhl street was left to a daughter, Estella Folk, and her husband, Arthur Folk.

According to the bill of complaint, filed by Edward J. Ryan, attorney for Leo Chambers, the property needed repairs, and with the exception of Francis Chambers, all the children of Mrs. Chambers conveyed their interest in it to Leo Chambers so he could become the sole owner of one of the properties and could reconvey the other property to Mr. and Mrs. Folk and clear the title.

Leo Chambers, according to the bill, owns seven-eighths of the property and Francis Chambers is the owner of one-eighth.

Husband Gets Divorce In Circuit Court

An absolute divorce from Madeline H. Eddins was granted in circuit court yesterday to Frank L. Eddins. She was given the right to resume use of her maiden name, Madeline H. Copp.

Ruth P. Hardin filed suit in court yesterday against Albert R. Hardin. Grounds for the action were not disclosed.

Waste-paper Drive
Brings Forty-one
Tons in Four Days

Ten Tons Were Picked Up
Yesterday; Canvass
Will End Today

With forty-one tons already collected Cumberland's five-day waste-paper drive is expected to net close to fifty tons by this evening when the monthly canvass is concluded in the section south of Oldtown road.

Emmett A. Dougherty, collector, last evening reported that yesterday's canvass south of Baltimore street, Baltimore avenue and north of Oldtown road brought in an additional ten tons. This was preceded by three tons Monday, thirteen tons Tuesday and fifteen tons Wednesday.

The amount of waste-paper and magazines collected so far is equal to the amount picked up during the monthly drive in October. Dougherty stated, five tons were collected on the final day of the October campaign and he expects today's collection to exceed that figure, judging from the increases noted in other sections of the city during the first four days.

"Citizens have been more cooperative in this drive and the response to numerous appeals for waste-paper certainly have been encouraging," Dougherty asserted.

Waste-paper collected here will be assigned to the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company plant in Covington, Va., while the magazines will be sent to the Luke, Md., plant of that company.

The work of loading the fourth boxcar with waste-paper got under way yesterday at the B. & O. rolling mill yard. This paper represents both house-to-house and commercial collections.

"E" Bond Sales Are 19 Per Cent Of County Quota

Purchases Total $162,405;
Itinerary of Caravan
Is Announced

Allegany county has subscribed only nineteen per cent of its series "E" bond quota of $850,000, as of Monday, November 27, according to a report from the Treasury department by Joseph H. Cromwell, chairman of the county's Sixth War Loan drive.

Cromwell said the report showed that on Monday "E" bond purchases totaled $162,405 compared to sales amounting to $256,068 on the same day of the Fifth War Loan campaign.

An intensive campaign will be carried on this month and the opening gun will be fired Sunday evening when the United States Army Signal Corps caravan arrives here from Camp Holabird, Md.

Following a demonstration of equipment on Baltimore street, between Centre and George streets, Sunday evening between 8:30 and 10 p. m., the Signal Corps band caravan will visit communities in Allegany and Mineral counties on Monday. The itinerary will include:

Itinerary of Caravan
Crescentown, 9:30 a. m.; Keyser, 9:30 a. m.; Piedmont, 11:30 a. m.; Luke 11:40 a. m.; Barton, 12:30 p. m.; Lonaconing, 1 p. m.; Midland, 2:30 p. m.; Frostburg, 3 p. m., and Mt. Savage, 4 p. m. Upon returning to Cumberland the equipment will again be displayed on Baltimore street Monday evening.

Maryland State Police will accompany the caravan and advise radio station WTBO by short wave on the time it will visit the various communities.

All persons inspecting the equipment will be eligible to win a $25 war bond being offered by Rosenbaum's store.

Dr. Thomas Bess, of Keyser, is making arrangements for the serving of luncheon to Capt. McKeever and his crew of one dozen men in Westernport on Monday at noon. A reception in honor of the signal corps crew is scheduled for Sunday about 9:30 p. m. in the state armory.

Cpl. Clark enlisted in the army in July, 1942, and received his basic training in field artillery at Fort Bragg, N. C. after being sent to Fort Jackson, S. C., he volunteered as a paratrooper in June, 1943, and was sent to Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., for training in that branch of the service.

After spending two months in the Aleutians in 1943, Cpl. Clark arrived in Naples, Italy, in October of that year and saw action on the Anzio beachhead for ninety-nine days. His unit was one of the first to enter Rome.

On D-day, last June 6, Cpl. Clark's outfit captured two islands in Southern France, Port Cros and Levant. An article about the outfit appeared in the November Readers' Digest.

Cpl. Clark holds the Asiatic Pacific ribbon and the African Middle East ribbon with three bronze stars, as well as the Combat Infantryman badge and the army Good Conduct ribbon. He has also won the wings and boots of a paratrooper.

Jewish Lodge Gives Books to Library

Western Maryland Lodge, No. 1507, B'nai B'rith, of Cumberland, has presented two books in commemoration of Jewish Book Month to the Cumberland Free Public Library, on behalf of the organization, Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian, announced yesterday.

The presentation was made by Julius E. Schindler, president of the lodge and Frank Kaplan, secretary, and Rabbi Samuel Sobel, of the book committee.

One book is "Brandeis on Zionism," a collection of Jewish and Zionist statements and essays of the late Justice Louis D. Brandeis, of the U. S. Supreme Court. The book contains an introductory note by Justice Louis E. Levinthal, former president of the Zionist Organization of America, and a foreword by Justice Felix Frankfurter, of the Supreme Court.

The other volume is "The Jewish Anthology," by E. Fleg and M. Samuel—a 400-page book of selections from the Talmud, Hebrew philosophical authors, historians, and poets.

Pvt. John Kilroy Is Home from Pacific

A veteran of thirty-one months of overseas service in the Pacific area, Pvt. John R. Kilroy, 31, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kilroy, 424 Green street, arrived in Cumberland Wednesday to spend a furlough with his parents. He will report to an army camp in North Carolina December 26.

After going overseas in April, 1942, Pvt. Kilroy saw action on Guadalcanal, Bougainville, New Georgia and the Philippines, and was also stationed in New Guinea. He holds the Combat Infantryman badge.

A graduate of LaSalle high school, Pvt. Kilroy was employed by the Times and Alleganyan Company for several years before enlisting in the army June 25, 1940. He trained at Camp Wheeler, Ga., and Indian town Gap, Pa., before going overseas.

A brother, Staff Sgt. Hugh Kilroy, who has been stationed at Camp Dorn, Miss., is on his way overseas.

Retired B. and O.
Machinist Dies

Elmer Thompson, 55, retired Baltimore and Ohio Railroad machinist, died yesterday afternoon at 5:46 o'clock in Allegany hospital where he was admitted Tuesday.

He was a native of Berkeley Springs and was employed as a street car operator in Washington before coming here in 1911. He was employed in the shops here until seven years ago when he was
